SOCIALISTS SEIZE GERMAN, ITALIAN OFFICES IN MADRID

France Warns She Will Defend Shipping; Rebel
General Brags of Sinking Ships in Barcelona.

The danger of international complications growing out of the Spanish civil war increased yesterday. Acting with startling swiftness, Madrid's defenders seized and locked the Italian and German embassies in the capital and arrested several refugees in the German building. The Chilean ambassador, dean of the diplomatic corps there, appealed to the other diplomats to seek safe conduct for the refugees. Some found haven at the various embassies. German and Italian officials had departed previously.

Great Britain, on receipt of an unsatisfactory reply from the Rebel General Franco concerning a threatened blockade of certain Spanish ports, sent the depot ship Cyclops and eight submarines to protect British shipping in Spanish waters. A flotilla of destroyers will sail Thursday.

France, taking her cue from London, issued a strongly worded statement declaring France will brook no interference with her shipping except the usual control exercised by local authorities within the three-mile zone. France will continue to support "normal commerce" with Spain.

In the war theater itself, there was relative quiet. Directed by airplanes, the Fascist artillery shelled the capital, apparently attempting to bomb the American-owned telephone building, whereabouts the shells fell. An undetermined number of persons were injured.

The Exchange Telegraph Agency reported today that General Gonzalo Gueipo de Llano, Rebel commander at Seville, radioed that Rebel ships sank several merchant vessels off Barcelona and would continue to do so.

Nazi-Soviet Breach Seen Over Execution

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(UP)—The diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph said tonight that German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop has informed Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin that Germany will break off diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia if E. L. Stickling, German engineer, is executed.

Stickling has been sentenced to death by the military collegium of the supreme court in Russia for alleged sabotage and counter-revolution. Baldwin, it was understood, replied that an open breach between Germany and Russia would seriously prejudice all attempts to secure a new European peace system.

Chief Asks Full Exoneration Of Department in Cable Fire

Parker Lays Blame on Equipment; Requests City Purchase of New and Modern Apparatus; Board Hears Beck and Couch Assailed.

Chief O. J. Parker of the Atlanta fire department last night called on the board of firemasters to exonerate the members of the fire department from blame in the deaths of the three victims of the Cable Piano Company blaze and declared the men under him showed courage and a willingness to risk their lives in fighting the flames and saving the victims.

The chief declared lack of equipment should draw any blame attached to handling of the fire, and said, "I take full responsibility for the way the fire was handled. I feel there are 200,000 fingers in Atlanta pointing at me, but I have no regret for the way the department went about handling the blaze."

Alderman John W. Ball Jr. and Councilman W. M. Sutton, chairman of the board of firemasters, asserted they believed criticism should be largely leveled at lack of equipment.

Beck, Couch Assailed.
Sutton and Ball both charged that two of the most outspoken critics of the way the fire was handled, Councilman Frank Beck and J. Allen Couch, had consistently fought against buying any additional equipment for the fire department.

100 MILLION PAID TO STOCK OWNERS $44,280 REPORTED AT CHEST MEETING

Steel Takes Up $25,000,000 in Arrear Dividends. 100,000 Workers Aided.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Another wave of extra dividends and Christmas bonuses rolled out of industrial sources today, topped by a $25,000,000 payment in arrears on preferred stock of the United States Steel Corporation.

About 50 companies dipped into expanded earnings to disburse nearly $100,000,000 to shareholders, mostly through extras and payment of accumulated dividends on senior issues. It sent total dividends declared by 311 companies since late October to approximately $720,000,000 in a record-breaking march of enlarged distributions to shareholders.

Workers Benefited.
Several million additional dollars were voted for distribution to close to 100,000 workers by a dozen large companies in shoe, food, retail, machinery and other industries.

Many more corporations were expected in financial circles to join the year-end rush, urged by a new tax law which allows a deduction for tax credits under the federal levy on undistributed profits.

After a lull over the week-end, it was resumed with new announcements from nearly all quarters of industry. Aside from the United States Steel payment, J. C. Penney Company, a chain store organization; Shell Union Oil Corporation and Norfolk & Western railway contributed payments amounting to about $30,000,000.

Directors of United States Steel, in a special meeting, declared a dividend of $7 on preferred stock, reducing the unpaid total to $33,326,000 from $38,345,679. The remaining accumulations amount to $9,254,345, left over from the lean depression years.

Endicott Johnson, from Birmingham, N. Y., announced "Christmas distributions" approximating $500,000 for the year.

TWO MOYERS FACE STATE TRIAL FIRST IN $30,000 HOLDUP

Pair Indicted on Multiple Charges by Grand Jury;
Government Decides To Delay Their Prosecution.

Three indictments returned yesterday by the Fulton county grand jury moved into the state courts the prosecution of William T. Moyers, 46-year-old Atlanta lawyer, and his son, Marshall Moyers, 18, both of whom are accused in the spectacular robbery of $30,000 from Ernest Woodruff, and Thomas K. Glenn, Atlanta bankers and capitalists.

Complaints were filed yesterday in United States courts, charging Moyers with violation of the federal bank robbery statute and his son with attempted rescue of a federal prisoner, assault on a government officer in the performance of his duties and accessory after the fact in a bank robbery. These complaints will be allowed to rest in the federal courts until it is determined what action will be taken against the father and son in state courts.

Fulton Indictments.
One Fulton county indictment charges William T. Moyers with robbery of Thomas K. Glenn and Ernest Woodruff of $30,000 and robbery of property of the Trust Company of Georgia.

Another indictment charges the two Moyers, father and son, with carrying a concealed weapon without license, which is a misdemeanor.

An order signed by Judge John D. Humphries, impounded the $28,000 reported recovered from the father and son when agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation seized them Monday afternoon in the lobby of the bank.

WORKERS RECEIVE SECURITY BLANKS

Forms Must Be Filled
Out and Returned to Postoffice by December 5

Three hundred thousand workers in offices, stores and factories throughout Georgia, yesterday received their registration blanks for application for federal old-age benefits.

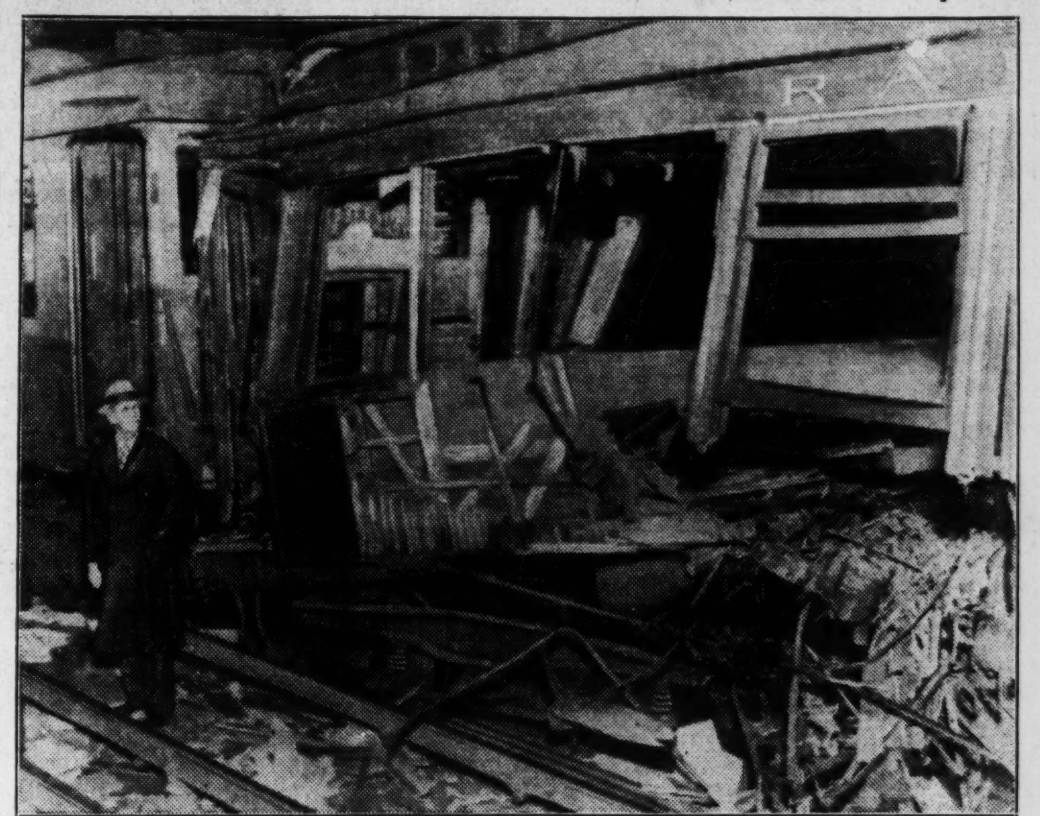

The number distributed in Atlanta, according to Postmaster Lon Livingston, cannot be accurately checked until the distribution has been completed.

"Some offices and factories called for more blanks than they had employees," said Livingston yesterday. "The blanks were given out in case some of the blanks were spoiled."

The blanks, calling for detailed information about workers, must be filled out and returned by December 5. They must be returned to the local postmaster, who will forward them to Washington to be turned over to the Social Security Administration.

'LINDY' IS MISSING ON CHANNEL DASH

Irish Fear for His Safety
But No Crashes Have Been as Yet Reported.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is "safe," his home at "Seven Oaks," Kent, told the Associated Press today.

DEBILIN, Nov. 25.—(Wednesday) Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's long absence, on a projected flight from Ireland to England, caused official Irish fears for his safety early today.

Frank Aiken, Irish minister of defense, expressed concern for the safety of the American flyer, at the same time expressing an opinion Lindbergh might have landed at an English airport.

(British air ministry officials in London said they had no information he had landed anywhere. They declared no plane crashes had been reported.)

Lindbergh was en route from Ireland to his country residence in England.

An earlier report he had landed at Newtownards in northern Ireland could not be confirmed.

Aiken said Lindbergh took off from Dublin this afternoon. The flyer told him, Aiken said, he was planning to go straight to Crofton airport outside London but that he had enough gasoline to take him farther if necessary.

Lindbergh had been receiving weather reports, Aiken said, before he started.

A check of air routes in the London vicinity disclosed Lindbergh had not landed at another field besides Crofton.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Lucio Godina, 28, the Siamese twin who contracted pneumonia more than a week ago, died tonight in a hospital here.

Hospital physicians immediately performed an operation separating Lucio from his brother, Simpicio. They reported Simpicio was "getting along nicely."

U. S. Agents Seize $150,000 in Jewels

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(UP)—Customs officials tonight announced that they had seized diamonds valued at $150,000 on the French liner Normandie and arrested two men and a woman believed to be members of a great international smuggling ring.

Gregory O'Keefe, supervising customs agent, said Perle Josephine Weinberg, pretty 28-year-old brunette, was arrested on the Normandie when it arrived from Europe yesterday. The diamonds, of all sizes, were secreted in the bottom of her trunk.

Isaac Weinberg, 34, her husband, was arrested as he waited on the pier. Later, agents arrested Israel Mandelkern, 50, New York diamond dealer. All were charged with smuggling and taken to jail.

O'Keefe said the seizure was "the largest in the history of the customs department." He said the ring operated through Antwerp, London and the United States.

A. F. L. WILL SEEK NEW PEACE TALKS

Informal Parleys Expected To Be Staged; Lewis
Confidant Is at Tampa.

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor will send a new peace talker to John L. Lewis, rebel union leader, within the next few days.

George M. Harrison, president of the Railway Clerks and chairman of the federation's special peace committee, told reporters tonight he would send an "official communication" with this plea to Lewis.

Harrison discounted reports that a specific peace plan was in the wind. Before any plan could be considered, he said, a round-table conference with well-informed quarters.

Informal negotiations between A. F. of L. leaders and persons close to Lewis may precede any formal peace offers, it was learned tonight in usually well-informed quarters.

Observers looked with interest to the presence here of the Rev. Father Francis J. Haas, former member of the National Labor Relations Board.

Father Haas is known to be close to Lewis. He also is friendly with many of Lewis' craft union opponents in the federation.

Meantime, the federation's convention, at today's session, termed Communism, Fascism and Nazism, "a definite threat to human liberty and to peace" and voted to fight the spread of these doctrines with all its strength.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A steel-constructed train of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee road plowed into the crowded rear wooden car of an elevated express during the rush hour tonight, killing some 65 passengers and injuring at least eight.

Physicians said there was little hope for some of the others. The three-car North Shore train, northbound to suburban Mundelein, overtook the Loyola express as it waited for a traffic signal near the Granville station, on the far north side.

It telescoped the wooden car before the motorman could stop it. It drove into the packed humanity, tossing straphangers along the right of way and some over the elevated span to an alley 20 feet below.

Lights flashed brilliantly for a moment, then the ruins were plunged into darkness. Moans, screams and shouts increased the terror. Flames licked momentarily about the matchwood debris of the express, and firemen and police squads dashed into the rescue work.

400 Police on Hand
Volunteers helped carry the victims to eight hospitals. A like number of police stations sent 400 officers, 20 ambulances and 30 squad cars.

Firemen swarmed up extension ladders from the alley, hauled the splintered wood and lifted out the injured.

Some broke off seat backs in the demolition and used them as stretchers. A dozen private ambulances, several delivery trucks, taxicabs and private automobiles carried the victims to neighboring hospitals which set up cots in their corridors.

Four priests, who escaped uninjured, climbed down from the trains and by flashlight administered the last sacrament to the most seriously hurt. Relatives of the injured surged.

Public Service Group Ousts Curtis Mees

The state public service commission yesterday dropped Curtis A. Mees, of Atlanta, in charge of its rate-making department, from its rolls. J. P. Wilhoit, chairman, announced Mees' dismissal following an executive session of the group.

Mees, consulting engineer with the board since 1932, drew a salary of $6,000 annually, officials said, $1,000 more than is paid the commission chairman.

No reason for Mees' dismissal was given by officials. It was recalled, however, that Mees was a witness at a hearing in 1933 when Talmadge ousted all five members of the Public Service Commission and filled the posts with his own appointees.

Three of the five commissioners ousted by Talmadge in 1933 have since been re-elected to the commission by the people.

EIGHT BRITISH SUBS EN ROUTE TO SPAIN

Destroyer Flotilla Sails
Tomorrow; Rebel Reply
Reported Unsatisfactory

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Great Britain, backing up her age-long right to sail the seven seas unhindered, tonight sent submarines to Spain with a destroyer flotilla ready to sail Thursday.

The admiralty announced the depot ship Cyclops and eight submarines already were en route from Malta to the war-torn Spanish peninsula to add show of force to verbal warnings Britain would tolerate no interference with her shipping.

The Cyclops and her brood of undersea craft, the admiralty announced, would relieve the destroyer depot ship Woolwich at Alicante, but declared it "unlikely" the British vessels would proceed within the three-mile Spanish territorial limit.

Will Relieve Ship.
The destroyer flotilla will relieve vessels now stationed in various Spanish ports. The cruiser Galatea will replace the cruiser Arethusa at Mallorca.

There were unconfirmed reports from Malta that the battleship Barham was getting up steam to put out for Spain.

The British fleet movements were announced but a short time after informed sources said the Spanish insurgents in an official message guaranteed safe anchorage to neutral shipping in many Spanish ports, but omitted Barcelona, which General Francisco Franco has threatened to destroy.

Fumes Fatal to Five Unloading Steamer

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Five men died from asphyxiation and three others were overcome tonight while unloading a fruit cargo from the steamship Empire State, docked at Brooklyn.

Inspector Louis Goodman, in charge of the police emergency squad, said the men "probably were felled by carbon fumes thrown off by the refrigerating unit."

He said police chemists were making tests to determine the exact cause of the deaths.

The dead were: William Jacobs, 42; Anthony Greco, 25; Philip McGrath, 33; and William Faiss, 39, all of Brooklyn.

Atlanta Talent Will Get Chance In 'Gone With the Wind' Filming

Auditions To Be Given Aspirants for Movie Fame on December 2; Producer Selsnick To Make Final Selections for Major Roles.

Atlanta will be given a chance to offer its undiscovered movie picture talent for the leading roles in the film version of "Gone With the Wind."

Young women who consider themselves able to portray the lively "Scarlett" or the demure "Melanie," young men who consider themselves equal to the portrayal of "Rhett Butler" or "Ashley Wilkes," will be given an audition at the Baltimore hotel commencing December 2.

Word reached Atlanta yesterday that David Selsnick, the motion picture producer who has bought the movie rights to Margaret Mitchell's novel of the old south, will open a studio in Atlanta to try to discover some new stars to offer to the world.

Miss Katherine Brown, eastern representative of the Selsnick firm, will arrive December 2 to begin the auditioning process. After she has chosen the outstanding talent, George Cukor, director, Sidney Howard, adaptor, and Selsnick, himself, will arrive some time between December 10 and 15 to make the final selections. The race is not confined to Atlanta. If this city is unable to produce the necessary talent, the hunt will be extended to the rest of Georgia and into the entire south, if necessary.

The players are being hunted for the four principal parts. Members of the Junior League, the Debutantes Club, the Dramatics Club of Georgia Tech, Agnes Scott, Emory and other colleges will be invited to demonstrate their talents.

"I have nothing to do with the filming of the book," said Margaret Mitchell, the author, yesterday.

"I wrote the book and sold the moving picture rights. My responsibility ended there."

Prospective screen stars are asked not to consult the author about their chances. She knows nothing about the moving picture business.

POLICE CHIEF DECRIES $44,280 ARE REPORTED BY CHEST WORKERS

'Need More Men, Better Equipment and Convictions,' Says Sturdivant.

"We don't need to attend a school conducted by the FBI to provide better law enforcement in Atlanta," said Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant yesterday. "What we need is better equipment, more men and sterner law enforcement."

The chief made the statement when it was pointed out Atlanta is one of the few large southern cities which have failed to avail themselves of free police training provided by a school conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

"Besides," said the chief, "none of these schools are without cost. The tuition may be free but there are other expenses attached to such training."

In referring to sterner law enforcement the chief asked:

"With all the traffic accident deaths that occur in Atlanta, did you ever see anyone convicted in the courts?"

FORECAST FOR TODAY IS FAIR AND WARMER

Fair and slightly warmer weather will return to Atlanta today, according to the weatherman.

Temperatures are expected to start at 28 degrees this morning and climb to 50 during the afternoon.

Yesterday the start was at 43 degrees and the climb during the dark, gloomy day was only seven degrees, to 52.

1935 TRAFFIC TOLL IS ALREADY EQUALLED

Saturday Death, Reported to Police Yesterday, Brings Total to 79.

With a month and a week to go for the complete 1936 figures, traffic deaths in the city yesterday equalled the all-time record high of fatalities for any one year. The year 1935, with 79 deaths, was the previous record.

The death of T. L. Bennett, of the Pindick apartments, reported yesterday to police, raises the toll for this year to 79. Mr. Bennett died Saturday at a private home.

He received a fatal blow to the head on August 8 when he was struck by a truck on Bankhead avenue and Addie street. The present month also has exceeded the fatalities of November of last year, when 12 were killed. Mr. Bennett's death is the thirteenth of the month.

November of last year was the second heaviest month of that year in traffic fatalities, being exceeded only by December, when 18 were killed. If the present fatality rate continues, police pointed out, the previous death toll will be far eclipsed.

More than 1,000 persons have been injured in Atlanta by automobiles for the first 10 months of the year, police said yesterday.

2 MOYERS WILL FACE TRIAL BY STATE FIRST

where the robbery is said to have occurred. The money was ordered held in the custody of the Trust Company of Georgia for use as evidence in the forthcoming trial.

Bonds of $20,000 each were fixed for father and son. Neither had been able to make bond late last night.

Federal agents appeared before the Fulton grand jury yesterday to tell the story of the federal government's five-day hunt for William T. Moyers and the sudden arrest Monday afternoon that resulted in the capture of the two men.

The agents were A. H. Watkins, R. L. Fagan, W. E. Overstreet and L. C. Taylor.

Neither father nor son appeared before the grand jury.

The Moyers, father and son, according to E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, are maintaining steadfast silence about their troubles.

They change the subject, said Conroy, when they are asked about the case.

"Neither has anything to say," the resolution read.

Former Governor Arthur J. Weaver, of Nebraska, was elected president. Robert Isham Randolph, of Chicago, is retiring president.

Thomas F. Cunningham, of New Orleans, was re-elected president at large, and Richard S. Hawes, St. Louis, treasurer.

District vice presidents elected were: W. E. Brock, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Alex. W. Dann, Pittsburgh, Pa.; O. E. Engler, Omaha, Neb.; George B. Longan, Kansas City, Mo.; E. T. Harris, Chicago; Edward Magnus, St. Louis; Walter Parker, New Orleans; B. F. Peek, Moline, Ill.; C. P. Richardson, Sturgis, Ky.; Eugene Kelly, Sioux City, Iowa; A. C. Ingersoll, Cincinnati, Ohio; H. H. Buckman, Jacksonville, Fla.; and J. S. Clapper, Minneapolis, Minn.

Father and son both refused to pose for jail photographs or to be fingerprinted yesterday. They are in separate cells, both refusing to talk other than to ask for information about their case. The elder Moyers said yesterday that as soon as he has a chance to talk to his attorney he will issue a statement.

"There is a great deal more behind this matter than appears on the surface," he said.

The elder Moyers is said to have visited the offices of Ernest Woodruff shortly before noon last Thursday and demanded $30,000 in cash. Woodruff's offices are on a mezzanine floor of the Trust Company of Georgia building.

Displaying a pistol, Moyers is said to have demanded $30,000 in bills of small denomination, and Woodruff, at Moyers' demand, telephoned Mr. Glenn in the bank offices downstairs to come up.

Woodruff's secretary entered the office and was held at pistol point. Charles Bickertstaff, a friend of Mr. Woodruff, came in and was included in the holding. Glenn entered and was told to go downstairs and get the money. When Glenn returned, Moyers disappeared in the crowd watching the fire in the Cable Piano Company building.

STORE AND DWELLINGS DAMAGED BY FLAMES

Fire early yesterday badly damaged a grocery store and three negro dwellings, one-story wooden structures valued at approximately $2,000, on Haynes street, N. W.

The properties are owned by the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad Company. The flames are believed to have originated in the grocery store operated by Joe Johnson at 115 Haynes street and spread to the other buildings.

"ALL-BRAN KEEPS ME IN SHAPE EVERY DAY"

"When I had eaten a heavy breakfast, I would feel lousy. After a couple of days of this, I would have to take a laxative."

"One morning I had a dish of ALL-BRAN. Believe me, it beats any laxative, as it keeps me in shape every day."—Wm. C. Billings, 1330 19th St., Denver, Colorado.

Why put up with half-sick days, when a delicious cereal will make you feel so good? Because ALL-BRAN has "bulk" which absorbs moisture within the body. Then gently sponges out your system, wipes away the listlessness, the "blues," the headaches.

Scientific tests prove this natural food is both safe and effective—worlds better than taking patent medicines. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Take it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

POLICE TO BE GIVEN ADAPTABILITY TESTS

Van Arsdall, Kreml Ready for Preliminary Work on Traffic Plan.

Atlanta police officers will be given the O'Rourke police adaptability tests this week or early next week, it was announced yesterday by G. L. Van Arsdall, assistant to Lieutenant Frank M. Kreml in installation of the Evanson traffic control plan here.

The examination consists of the listing of 100 questions relating to traffic accidents and traffic enforcement measures. The test papers contain five possible answers to each question, of which only one is the correct answer.

The tests will be given to all members of the Atlanta department, and the 50 making the highest grades will be selected for preliminary training in administration of the Evanson plan. It is anticipated the examinations will require three or four days, it was said yesterday by Captain Jack Malcom, in charge of traffic police.

The 50 officers will begin the Red Cross first aid course about November 30, Arsdall said, at which time an instructor will be sent from Red Cross headquarters in Washington. Following completion of the course, it is expected that 40 of the 50 officers will be chosen to begin the administration of the Evanson plan.

Lieutenant Kreml left yesterday for Florida where he will do educational work with the Miami police department. He will make frequent visits to Atlanta to keep in close touch with progress of the work here, he said.

Shaw Declares Hitler Too Much Like Shaw

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(UP)—George Bernard Shaw, the English dramatist, declared today that Adolf Hitler ought to be clamped in prison because he's too much like Bernard Shaw.

Informing that Nazi authorities in Danzig had sentenced a bookeller to three years' imprisonment for selling his books, Shaw asked why.

"When he was told it was because his work preached Socialistic philosophy," Shaw said.

"Then they ought to put Mr. Hitler in prison. All the valuable work he has done is Socialistic work. He probably read my books himself, and got his ideas from them."

W., was stabbed to death at 5:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and his companion, Harry Jones, 18, of 340 Luckie street, was slashed about the left arm by a negro youth following an altercation on Marietta street, near Jones avenue, while the street lights were out and the section was in darkness.

SOCIALIZATION LOOMS IN MEXICAN DISPUTES

Law Empowers Workers To Take Over Strike-Ridden Industries.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Industrialists here forecast today a supreme court test of Mexico's new wealth distribution legislation which oil operators fear may permit socialization of their business if an oil strike scheduled for this week-end is of long duration.

Attorneys for business houses, Mexican and foreign, have asserted the legislation will authorize the government to expropriate for worker-administration stores, shops, factories and hotels or apartment houses closed by strikes.

The clauses which roused concern would allow the government to take over property for "equitable distribution of wealth" and the "establishment, maintenance or conservation of an industrial concern for the good of society."

Oil operators, first to be faced by a strike since passage of the law, expressed belief their property might be expropriated. The oil workers want a blanket labor contract and long vacations with pay.

AMERICANS HAVE BILLION INVESTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Administration officials today will study anxiously the possible influence on America's billion-dollar investment in Mexico of that country's proposed new wealth expropriation law and the threatened general strike in the Mexican oil industry.

Whether this government contemplated any diplomatic action in either matter was a question upon which the closest officials' silence was maintained.

The State Department declined to discuss the situation. In other responsible quarters, however, no attempt was made to disguise official concern over the potential threats to private American property holdings in the southern republic.

The new expropriation law, recently passed by the Mexican congress but not yet signed by President Cardenas, empowers the government to expropriate outright, seize temporarily, or restrict the right of ownership of certain private properties classes as public utility.

In copies of the proposed law received here, reference to utilities is not confined to public services within the strict meaning of that term but embraces other activities as well.

American investments in Mexico are centered chiefly in the development of oil, mining and agricultural properties.

American Aviators Are Fighting On Both Sides in Spain's Civil War

Bert Acosta, Former Associate of Rear Admiral Byrd in Flight to France in 1927, Is Member of Loyalist Forces.

By SHERMAN B. ALTRICK.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—High over Madrid's maze of winding streets and wide boulevards, American aviators today are striking each other in the clouds. High above the bull rings of old Spain they are engaging each other in mortal combat, and the price on each man's head is a thousand dollars.

Those fighting with the Rebels do not realize they are gunning for their brother Americans, and those with the Loyalists are just as much in the dark about the true identity of the combatants in the black Rebel planes. On both sides they merely are soldiers of fortune, and if one goes plummeting earthward to death, the other is $1,000 richer. That's the price, and that's what they are hired to do.

Some of those fighting on opposite sides in the Spanish war were the best of friends before they decided to become brave, bold "knights of the sky." Several of them were trained together at Roosevelt field, under the same instructor, but now, unknown to themselves, they are mortal enemies, seeking each other's life.

They were recruited right here in New York by agents for the two warring factions in Spain, and they have no interest in the outcome, nor do they actually know where the fighting is about. All they know is that they have a chance to make big money fighting for the honor of one side or the other.

Big Money.
Now, a salary of $1,500 a month is big money for a flyer out of a job, and pretty good, too, for some plum jobs, but when you consider the fact that one enemy plane knocked out of the sky brings the figure to $2,500, it is little wonder that a number of American pilots were enticed into the foreign fighting service.

Several of those who left here to join one wing or the other of the warring factions were veteran aviators. But there also were some who were youthful pilots, and it was the glamour and glory of fighting aerial battles that attracted them to the war.

It is hard to estimate how many American pilots now are taking part in the battles above Madrid. Most of those recruited here during the last month or so are with the Loyalist forces at Madrid, and undoubtedly are in putting up the recent stubborn resistance against the Rebel invaders.

Rebels are using German-built Heinkel fighters. The Rebels also have some Italian-built fighters, but those who should know say that most of the single-engine pursuit machines in the service of Francisco Franco are Heinkels. The French planes are said to be superior to the Heinkels, which probably accounts for the number of Loyalist air victories reported in recent dispatches.

Jarrell, Athens-Elberton district; Dr. A. M. Pierce, Dalton district; Dr. A. M. Pierce, Dalton district; Dr. J. F. Yarbrough, Gainesville, and Dr. Lester Rumble, Atlanta. Jones, Marietta district.

METHODISTS' AGENDA MAPPED BY CABINET

Two New Presiding Elders Will Be Selected by Conference.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth and his cabinet conferred last night on matters to be presented to the North Georgia Methodist conference opening here tomorrow.

Appointments of pastors occupying a major portion of their attention, Ainsworth will read at the closing session either Sunday or Monday.

Two new presiding elders are to be appointed. They will replace the Rev. Irby Henderson, of the LaGrange district, and the Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, of Rome. Both have served their maximum four-year terms.

Other presiding elders who conferred with the bishop were Dr. Lester Rumble, Atlanta district; Dr. C. C. Jarrell, Athens-Elberton; the Rev. H. J. Jones, Augusta; Dr. A. M. Pierce, Dalton; Dr. Wallace Rogers, Decatur-Oxford; the Rev. J. F. Yarbrough, Gainesville; Dr. W. M. Jones, Marietta, and the Rev. W. M. Twigg, Griffin.

Three sessions are to be held daily Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Bishop Ainsworth's annual address will feature the opening meeting tomorrow night.

Numerous problems are before the denomination, one of the largest in Georgia. Among these are: Equalization of pastors' salaries through fixing of minimum wages at $750 a year for single ministers and $1,000 a year for married ones. A fund is being raised, financed partly by a 2 per cent pastors' salary tax, to make up pay deficiencies.

Arranging for continued publication of the Wesleyan Advocate. Attempts have been made to merge the paper with the Christian Advocate, of Nashville, Tenn.

Promotion of further advances in Christian education. Enlarging the sphere of work for laymen.

The conference also is expected to make strong stands for prohibition and world peace, two prime topics at the Southern Georgia conference over which Bishop Ainsworth presided two weeks ago.

OWENS GIVES UP TO BEGIN TERMS
Two-Year Term Faces Convicted Bootlegger for Assault Convictions.

Declaring "I want to get my record clear," Ralph Owens, convicted Atlanta bootlegger, yesterday gave himself up to Fulton county officers to begin serving three one-year sentences for assault and battery.

Two of the sentences will run concurrently, making the total time he is to serve on the chain gang two years. George Finch, attorney for Owens, said the bootlegger's sentence was recently upheld by the court of appeals and Owens was ordered brought to Fulton Tower. Yesterday was the last day on which he could appear without forfeiting his bond.

Owens was sentenced for attacks on C. J. Christian, a former business associate, and upon several Atlantans with whom he had fought on Houston street.

'Knock-Knock' Thefts Result in Indictment
A burglary indictment was returned against Minnie Jones yesterday by the Fulton grand jury for her version of the famous "Knock-Knock" thefts.

Detectives said she approached residences, knocked at the front door and, when there was no reply "Who's there?" went in and proceeded to steal various articles. She played this game five different times, the officers said.

Among other routine indictments were charges of assault with intent to murder against John Arnold, who was accused of shooting Ida Smith and Blonie Mae Glass, while Jesse and Tommie Pitts were charged with the shooting of Marcellus McGhee November 17.

Trio Told To Run City Until January First by Finance Committee.

Mayor Key, City Comptroller B. Graham West and Councilman Aubrey Milam, chairman of the finance committee, yesterday were told to run the city's finances until the end of the year.

They were named a subcommittee by the finance committee to act for that body until council is reorganized beginning January 1, 1937.

Milam called a special meeting yesterday to consider routine matters since he will be out of the city on regular meeting day. FAKE PEER SENTENCED FOR SWINDLING WIDOW
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Ernest Be Hagen, 47, was sentenced today to serve from 2 1/2 to 5 years in Sing Sing prison for talking an Alabama banker's widow out of several thousand dollars.

AUTOPSY IS HELD ON VAN SWERINGEN

Accident in Car Rail King
Was Traveling in Is Revealed.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—(AP)—In a surprise autopsy, seven physicians attempted tonight to learn whether Oris P. Van Sweringen's death was superinduced by a minor accident to the railroad car in which he was traveling to New York Monday.

Physicians representing the Van Sweringen interests and insurance companies said after the prolonged examination, which lasted three hours, that results would not be known for "a week or 10 days."

Insurance companies asked for the autopsy.

Most of Van Sweringen's life insurance contracts contain a double indemnity clause.

A New Jersey death certificate attributed Van Sweringen's death to a heart attack.

Van Sweringen was found dead in a private Pullman berth at noon Monday in Hoboken, N. J. The accident, which occurred eight hours before in Scranton, Pa., broke the center sill in the car in which he had been riding.

Atlantans in All Walks of Life Study Security Applications as Government Begins Enrollment Task

Just last February, Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, slipped past the 65-year age limit that bars him from collecting an old-age social security account. "I'm afraid I'll have to work until I drop in harness," he remarked yesterday.

Here is a telephone operator in an Atlanta provision house filling out her application blank between calls yesterday. She is Miss Annie Clay Lawton, who still has a number of years to go before she reaches that 65-year age limit and receives government benefits.

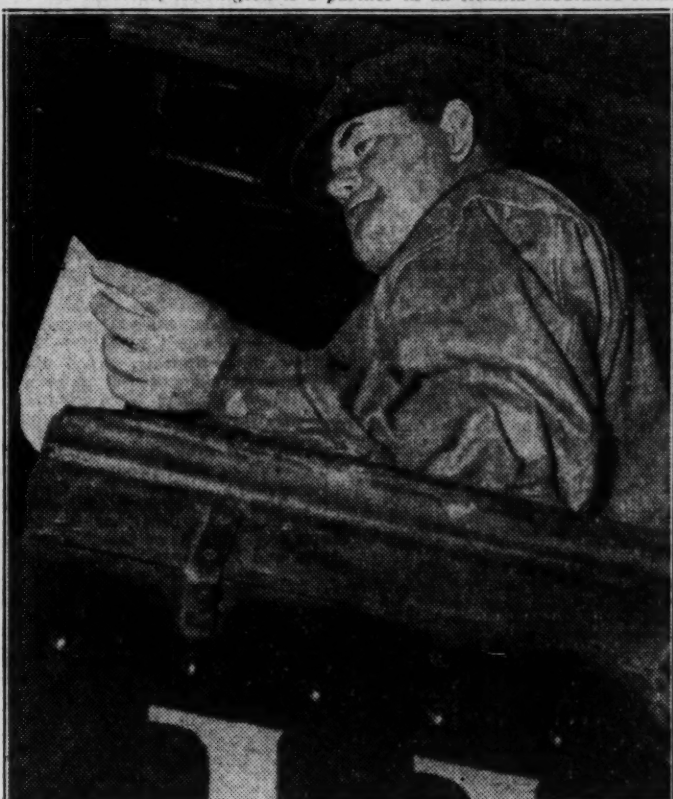

W. Eugene Harrington, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, is shown filling out the application blank which was delivered to his desk yesterday. Recently re-elected for a second term as head of the chamber, Harrington is a partner in an Atlanta insurance firm.

Miss Virginia Carrie, an adding machine operator, is learning from Chief Clerk S. A. Sastellow just how to fill out her benefit blank.

Thomas E. Lyons, Atlanta boilermaker, is studying the problems of the application blank with Leo Boyles, acetylene welder.

Out in Inman Yards, Engineer E. Z. McCullers is shown examining the blank which was handed to him as he switched the cars around.

OUTDATED APPARATUS BLAMED BY FIRE CHIEF

no juggling," Zachary declared in refuting a statement made by Fay that the tower had been poorly handled.

Captain R. C. Endicott, fire inspector in charge of arson investigations, reported his investigation had revealed there was a delay in turning in the alarm. He reported he had learned from radio men that there had been terrific static prior to the reporting of the blaze, indicating there may have been defective electrical equipment.

Questioned by Councilman Howard Haire, Endicott reported a violation of the city ordinance covering the storage of inflammable liquids had been found. He declared he discovered five gallons of gasoline and 20 gallons of benzol stored in cans, while the city code provides for the storage of not more than five gallons of each liquid by companies which use the materials.

The inflammable liquids, however, did not burn, Endicott said.

Assistant Chief C. C. Styron reported an exit opening from the room from which two victims of the fire fled was not marked. He expressed the opinion the two, who subsequently perished, could have reached safety through this exit if they had known of its existence.

Other witnesses

Others who testified were: Fireman Ed Morgan, of Station No. 1; Lieutenant C. S. Rhodes, of No. 8; Fireman E. E. Hogue, of No. 8; Fireman S. E. Talton, of No. 8; Raymond Pierce, of No. 1, driver of the aerial, who testified he had difficulty in getting through traffic from Walton street to the blaze.

Captain Paul Connolly, of No. 4, who testified that when his company arrived the take trip to take equipment away from the firemen and put it in place themselves. He declared the short ladder, put up with the intention of placing it against a third story window from which the firemen could ascend through the inside of the building to the people trapped on the top floor. He reported that when the ladder was erected, it was found the heat was too great to permit carrying out the plan.

The board adjourned at 10:30 o'clock and went into executive session which was concluded at about 11:30 o'clock, to be resumed at 6 o'clock Thursday night.

Chief Cites Figures.

The fire chief, earlier in the day, quoted Fred Shephard, editor of the fireman's handbook, and author of the fire-fighting authority disclosed that more than a fourth of the cities in the United States are using apparatus which either is outmoded or not working properly, making the fire companies of those cities almost helpless in the face of a sudden large fire disaster.

"This recent fire here is an example of that," Chief Parker said yesterday. "And Atlanta certainly should be the first to profit by this example."

The chief, who already had planned to ask the city for eight new pieces of rolling stock costing $130,000, conferred yesterday with a representative of a leading manufacturer of gas masks and other fire-fighting equipment. A sufficient number of modern masks to meet emergencies in any part of the city on short notice would call for an expenditure of around $4,500, according to plans worked out by Chief Parker.

The new rolling stock would include two 1,500-gallon pumpers at $14,000 each; three 1,000-gallon pumpers at $13,000 each; two 85-foot automatic ladder trucks at $15,000 each; a modern water tower truck at $10,000; and a flood light truck, which can be built in the company shops for $6,000.

The new automatic ladder trucks demonstrate the great improvement which has been made in the construction of fire-fighting and rescue equipment, Chief Parker said. The type now in use requires four or five men to handle, the ladder being hoisted by four men turning cranks. The new piece of apparatus requires only one man to operate, the ladder being raised by a power pump. All the one operator has to do is work valves and levers to hoist the ladder and put it in any position he desires.

Another feature of the new ladder wagon, the chief explained, is that it is powerful enough to carry a man up while it is being hoisted. With the aerials now in use, firemen must wait until the ladder is raised and in place before mounting it. The new device is stout enough also to carry a man out of it in horizontal position, and a man stop the ladder, even when it is extended to 85 feet, can easily be moved from one building, to another or to one part of a burning building to another without coming down. And all the maneuvers are made by one man stationed at the controls.

According to the chief's planning of adequate mast provision for rescue and fire-fighting work, each of the 19 engine companies would be provided with two all-service masks, making a total of 38 masks of this type.

In addition, 16 two-hour oxygen tank masks which are not affected by heat, would be placed on ladder trucks and other strategic places. The all-service masks can be purchased for $55 each and the two-hour oxygen masks for $235 each.

Prices were not available yesterday on asbestos suits, an addition which would enable a fireman to work practically in the midst of the flames.

The apparatus company representative said yesterday the purchase of the new equipment would place the Atlanta fire department on a par with any department in the United States in relation to the size of the town, and would enable firemen here to meet any emergency efficiently.

Chief Parker said he thought the sudden and tragic loss of life in Thursday's fire had made the people overlook a lot of factors which were involved. Atlanta's record on loss of life in fires is said to be one of the best in the country. Although two firemen were killed in 1927 and six others in 1925, the last deaths of citizens occurred in 1916, Chief Parker said, when three girls were burned to death in a sudden blaze on Old farm row.

Some Equipment Ancient

The original cost of the equipment now in use, some of it many years old, was approximately $284,900, fire engineers reported yesterday. With some of this equipment replaced and supplemented by new rolling stock, the efficiency of the department would be multiplied, it was pointed out.

Chief Parker maintained that his men are receiving the best of training in their semi-monthly classes at the fire training grounds at No. 7 station and declared no change would be made in training routine or methods.

Accusations that the engines and men are slow in getting out of the station were met with a flat denial by the chief.

"Many of the signals come over the signal board and we are ready to go the minute it stops ticking out the location," he said. "But the majority are telephone calls and, although the driver is in place the second the phone rings, the engines and men have to remain quiet until the exact location is obtained by the operator. Then the engines are started and everyone swings out without further delay. Forty-five seconds or a minute is ample time for any condition."

BRITAIN SENDS SUBS TO SPANISH WATERS

Chilton, in two inquiries to Franco, asked specifically that neutral vessels be granted "safety zones" in Barcelona harbor.

Hence, informed sources said, the insurgent reply was unsatisfactory even though it did provide for free access to such ports as Valencia, Alicante, Tarragona and Cartagena.

Arms Bill Drafted.

A bill, announced in commons the day before by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, was being drafted hastily to prohibit British ships from carrying arms to either Spanish belligerent.

The Board of Trade was sponsoring the government-actuated bill, part of Eden's announced plan to avoid any international incidents which might disrupt British protection of her shipping as neutral.

There was a report, without confirmation, that a British ship has been seized and taken to the Spanish government-held port of Barcelona.

FRANCE WARNS SPAIN ON SHIPS

PARIS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—France, joining Great Britain, declared tonight she would tolerate no interference with French ships by either Spanish belligerent on the high seas.

An official statement said "inside the three-mile limit French merchant ships will submit to the control of local authorities under the international law. But beyond that zone the French government will permit no halting, visiting or seizure by either of the two Spanish fleets, having recognized neither party as a belligerent."

France, while expressing her determination to protect her shipping in Spanish waters, will warn merchantmen to conduct themselves "with extreme caution," officials said.

"The French fleet is ready to protect French merchant ships on the high seas, but they must remember that when in Spanish waters they are subject to Spanish law," a spokesman said.

The French answer to Spanish Fascist blockade threats, officials said, was that the nation would continue to support the rights of French ships to pursue "normal commerce" in Spain.

France, unlike Great Britain, did not contemplate special legislation to prohibit her vessels from carrying arms to Spain, spokesmen said, because the government held the non-intervention agreement covered the matter "sufficiently."

BRITAIN CANCELS NAVAL LEAVES

VALETTA, Malta, Nov. 24.—(AP)—All British naval leaves were cancelled tonight after the depot ship Cylops and eight submarines sailed for Spain. A boxing tournament scheduled for the entertainment of the visiting Turkish fleet was called off at the last minute.

NINE MEN MISSING IN STEAMER FIRE

Workers Believed Entombed in Hatch of Ship at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Nine men were believed entombed in the hatch of the S. S. Seantic of the Moorehead line by a fire which broke out late today.

Warren Johnson, president of the dry docks company installing refrigerating apparatus, said six white men and three negroes, all believed at work when the fire started, were missing.

"I do not know whether these men perished or not," he said.

The flames were battled for several hours before the hatch was sealed and steam sprayed inside to extinguish the fire.

Water was also pumped in. Officials said they would not know if there were any fatalities until morning, when the water is all pumped out.

Those reported missing were: A. E. Olson, 58, carpenter's helper; H. J. Picone, 59, carpenter; P. A. Peltier, 56; M. D. Dendinger, 39, pipe-

An announcement from his New York offices said he had been ill only a short time.

about the elevated span and others stormed frantically into hospitals. At Edgewater hospital, a woman attendant read a list of the 26 patients there to crowds in the street and was besieged for more facts.

Police lines struggled to hold them back. Unable to reach the hospital switchboard, many of the relatives waited in groups for newspapers carrying lists of the victims.

Survivors aided salvage workers. They tossed wood into the alley, and kicked aside tattered hats and coats and parcels to reach the victims.

The steel train had driven its way into the wooden car for almost three-fourths of its length.

Known Dead.

Physicians and police identified the known dead as:

R. F. Larson, 39.
Miss Mary Mullen, 27.
Quinn Morrison.
Jack Diffendahl, 39.
Vera Leichner, 35.
Sam Schwartz, 52.

Rooms of the six floors of the Edgewater hospital were filled and the 20 doctors there were aided by a special corps sent from the Cook County hospital.

Van Groens, of suburban Highland, motorman of the North Shore train, was among the injured.

Police Captain Martin McCormick detailed an officer to the hospital, but the motorman was not questioned immediately.

Motorman's Story.

George Correll, motorman of the eight-car elevated train, was questioned by McCormick. The captain said Correll told him:

"I was due at the Granville station at 8 p. m. I was 15 minutes late. At this point (a switch) I am supposed to cross from track 4 (outer) to track 3. The signal was against me when I approached and I stopped 50 feet from the signal."

"Just then we were struck from the rear. I jumped from the cab and saw sheets of flame along the third rail. I ran down to the switch tower and told the towerman to have the power shut off."

"Then I called the fire department and ran back to assist the injured."

ion are held to be treason," the convention's resolution's asserted.

"The world has witnessed the political assassinations and the so-called judicial verdicts by which those in opposition are done away with. The examples are recent and impressive."

The Lewis issue cropped out only once—when W. R. Trotter, of the Typographical Union, asked President William Green whether the A. F. of L. would order state federations and city central bodies to expel local rebel unions.

Green replied the A. F. of L. still wanted to make peace and that a previous order to central bodies to keep rebel members remained in effect.

LEWIS REFUSES COMMENT ON PLAN

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 24.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, tonight declined to comment on the latest proposals for settling differences between the C. I. O. and the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis wanted to know if the United assault for organization of the mass production industries proposed in a reported plan would be along craft or industrial set-up.

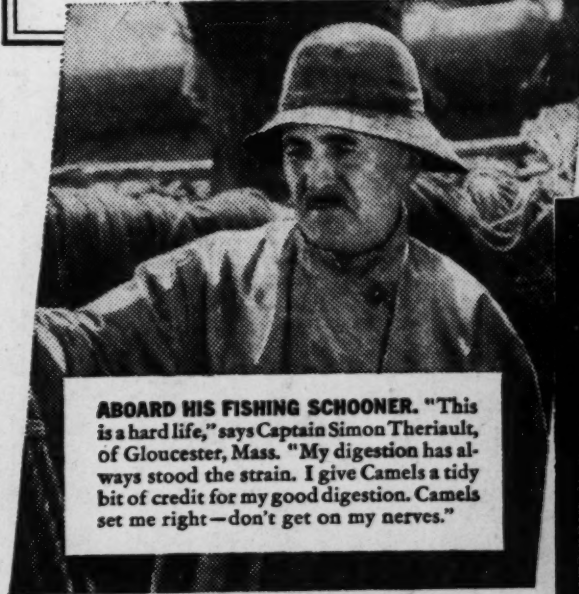

MOVIES TO CURE NERVES.

Moving pictures will be employed in the treatment of nervous and mental disorders for the first time in the history of Russian medicine. A special film studio is under construction at a Moscow hospital. The entire work is under the guidance of Professor L. Sukharevsky. The audience reaction to a moving picture, ranging from a smile to a fit of hysterical tears, is the basis of the project. Correctly chosen pictures, it is believed, will have a favorable effect on the patients treated.

UTILITIES BOARD HEARS MOTOR ROUTE CASES

Newly Organized Body
Holds First Public Session at Capitol.

Holding the first public hearing of the reorganized body yesterday at the capitol, the Georgia Public Service Commission opened the session with several motor bus and railroad petitions on the scheduled docket.

Three of the five commissioners took office last week.

Appearing before the commission yesterday was the controversy over a petition of the Coleman Motor Lines, of Tifton, for revocation of the permit of the Drake Motor Lines, of Thomasville. The Coleman Lines charge the Drake concern transports passengers over the same route for fares less than the minimum.

Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit said the two lines agreed to continue "indefinitely" the hearing on the controversy between them.

Wilhoit said there was no objection offered to an application of the Georgia Stages, Inc., to take over five operating certificates of the Ader Coach Lines recently purchased by them.

Wilhoit also said an application of the Georgia and Florida railroad for permission to condemn property to construct a track into Moultrie was removed from the records when the railroad announced it had purchased the required property.

The commission denied an application of the AAA Highway Express, Inc., who asked permission to go down state highway No. 3 between here and Albany instead of via Columbus. They also denied an AAA application for permission to go via the new Buford highway between Atlanta and Gainesville, but granted temporary permission to traverse with closed doors and full loads.

MARION C. HOWARD LAID TO LAST REST

Victim of Auto Accident
Was Former Motion Picture Executive.

Funeral services for Marion C. Howard, brother of William Schley Howard, Atlanta attorney, and pioneer Atlanta film executive, were held yesterday at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. Howard died Sunday of injuries suffered when he was struck on Ponce de Leon avenue by an automobile. W. S. Clark, listed by police as the driver of the car, has been given a summons to appear in recorder's court at 10:30 o'clock this morning. A technical charge of reckless driving was placed against him.

Mr. Howard formerly was for many years controller of Selznick Pictures Corporation, of New York, and had been manager of a theater at Rockmart until several weeks ago.

MANDAMUS ASKED BY JUDGE HOWARD

Hearing on Back Salary Petition
Slated for December 9.

Petition for a mandamus forcing the Fulton county treasurer, Mrs. Mabel Abbot McNeill, to pay Judge G. H. Howard $3,166.65 in back salary was formally filed in Fulton superior court yesterday.

Hearing on the petition will be heard at 10 o'clock, December 9, in Judge John D. Humphries' courtroom by Judge W. E. H. Searcy Jr., of the Griffin circuit, who signed the order Monday in Zebulon, after it had been certified to him by Fulton superior judges, who disqualified themselves.

The petition claims the money as accumulated salary cuts in 1931 and 1932, when salaries of all judges, department heads and county employees were reduced by the county commissioners.

5 DISTILLERIES CITED FOR HIGH PRICE PLOT

Federal Trade Commission
Orders Liquor Group To Show Cause.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Five major distilleries today were accused by the Federal Trade Commission of fixing liquor prices by unlawful agreements with distributors to "blacklist" and cut off the supplies of price-cutting retailers.

Named with three of the companies were seven trade associations which the commission charged had used coercion and threats of boycott to enforce and maintain the price policies.

Ordering the distilleries and the trade associations to show cause why they should not be compelled to cease their practices, the commission said the effect of them had been to deprive ultimate purchasers of the price advantages of free competition.

The distilleries named in the commission complaints were Seagram Distillers Corporation, New York city, and Seagram Distillers Corporation, of Massachusetts; Goodrich & Werts, Ltd., Detroit; Schenley Distillers Corporation, of New York city, and three affiliated companies: Hiram Walker, Inc., Detroit, and National Distillers Products Corporation, New York city.

The commission said the latter company control subsidiary distilleries and rectifying plants formerly operated by the American Medicinal Spirits Corporation, Penn.-Maryland Corporation, A. Overholt & Co., Inc., and the Old Taylor and Old Crow distilleries.

FARMERS OF SOUTH MAP AAA PROGRAM

Simplification Appears To Be Only Basis of Change in Control Plan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Farmers representing nine states' agricultural conservation committees began work today on the 1937 program to be recommended for the southern region.

Their recommendations, Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials said, together with recommendations of farmers representing the other four regions will be the basis upon which the national program will be developed.

AAA spokesmen said there was little sentiment among the southern farm representatives for a change in the 1936 program, except for simplification wherever possible.

Five Win Thanksgiving Turkeys In Constitution-Grand Contest

Stepping out of "Love On the Run," the picture opening on Thanksgiving Day at Loew's Grand, Clark Gable and Joan Crawford are ready to partake of a holiday dinner serving dishes from recipes submitted in the contest sponsored by Loew's Grand and The Constitution.

The majority of the hundreds of contestants inclined toward salads and desserts. Well, after all, it is difficult to vary greatly the manner of preparing and cooking a turkey. And it is invariably toward this bird that thoughts turn when a Thanksgiving dinner is mentioned.

Contributors of the selected recipes given herewith may obtain orders for a 12-pound turkey each, by calling and identifying themselves on the fourth floor of The Constitution any time after 9:30 o'clock this morning.

MADRID OFFERS $1,000 WEEKLY TO U. S. PILOT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Robert Edwards, sportsman pilot, said today he and five friends had rejected an offer of $1,000 a week to fly for the Spanish Loyalist government.

"We like our flying but weren't fools enough to take jobs where we'd probably never live to enjoy the first thousand dollars," he said. The offer was made by a young spokesman for the Madrid government.

"Payment was to have been in gold from a Loyalist reserve of approximately $700,000,000, we were told," Edwards related.

EX-ENTERTAINER SUES SOCIALITE FOR $100,000

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A sprinkling of society crowded into superior court today to hear counsel for Morris Humphrey, of New York, charge Gertrude Greeley Whiting, wealthy Holyoke widow, "lured" the one-time night club entertainer into a contract to pay him $100,000 a week for life.

PHYSICIAN-DUELIST WOUNDS OPPONENT

First 'Match' Ends in Draw
When Both Opponents
Miss.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Honor-loving Dr. Franz Sarga shot one of his nine challenged adversaries in the arm today, embraced a first opponent after both had missed, and ran home aquiver with triumph to tell his wife the score stood two down and seven to go.

Broke, Dr. Sarga borrowed $10 to rent the 14-inch erratic dueling pistols used in the encounters because neither of Sarga's opponents today was strong enough to make passes with the eight-pound cavalry sabers originally selected.

But on the morrow, exulted Dr. Sarga, he would be able to stab and whittle the torsos of the other seven men he charges made so bold as to insult him married his heirless wife for her money.

The duels fought today took place in a glimmering dusk which made the 16 witnesses somewhat fearful for their own safety, knowing as they did the indiscriminate manner in which the ancient, muzzle-loaded dueling pistols had a way of going off.

In the crackling bubble of a wheat field about 10 miles from Budapest, the carload of principals, seconds and witnesses got out and turned on the auto headlights so they could see to tamp the powder and balls into the pistols.

The hoppy Sarga and Aladar Hozmat, a bank manager, strode to their position, wheeled, and waited until the chief second delivered his perfunctory speech required by the dueling code.

"I warn you gentlemen, he intoned, 'you are about to violate the Hungarian law. I urge reconciliation.'"

Sarga's popping eyes glared through his glasses as he and Hozmat merely muttered.

The second counted three and the men brought down their pistols and fired at a distance of 15 paces.

Both shots missed and the men stood shifting their feet in an embarrassed silence for a few minutes.

Then they darted toward each other with little cries and embraced. The honor of the Sarga family had been defended successfully in the first match.

Then out marched Alexander Kovacs, a bank employee, challenge number two.

The same rignamarole was gone through except that this time Sarga's shot found its mark. With a grunt and a groan Kovacs clapped his free hand to his pistol arm, nicked by Sarga's bullet.

His injury was not believed to be serious but the wounded man left for suburban St. John's hospital.

Just after the second encounter a group of peasants totting turkeys along the road were mistaken for police. Warning cries were uttered and the whole entourage jumped into cars and sped back to Budapest as if they were children after a prank.

There Sarga bounced into his home and in a rhapsodic embrace told his wife Magda that he had defended her honor twice successfully.

Mme. Sarga, an expectant mother, wept copiously, as her spouse held her in his pistol arm and announced grimly:

"Well, that's two of them. Now for seven more."

Then he hurried to the telephone to make sure that the other seven would show up tomorrow.

The only thing bothering Sarga tonight was the possibility that the police, increasingly watchful, might prevent him from working on all nine men he accused of besmirching his honor.

He and his seconds had a bit of trouble dodging the police today, which caused them to hold the encounters on the isolated wheat field and not on the traditional "Cool Valley" originally called for.

Splashing and beating his chest in his bath tonight, Sarga asserted "hereafter I will absolutely not take on less than four duels a day. I can't be bothered with fewer."

"Anyway," he said, "I hope they don't arrest me. I'd much rather be shot than stay in a Hungarian jail."

F. D. R. NOMINATED 'SENIOR POLLYWOG'

President Spends Day on Address To Be Delivered
Friday.

ABOARD THE U. S. S. CHESTER AT SEA, Nov. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, sailing down to Rio on the cruiser Indianapolis, worked today on his speech to be delivered Friday in the Brazilian capital.

He had time, also, to join in the fun which followed the serving of "subpoenas" on more than 200 members of his party for the trial and initiation in King Neptune's court of those who previously had not crossed the equator.

The Indianapolis and the Chester were some 300 miles off the Brazilian coast. After leaving Rio de Janeiro, the party will proceed to Buenos Aires, arriving there November 30 for the inter-American peace conference, which opens December 1.

Neptune's ambassador, Davy Jones, boarded the Indianapolis and the Chester last night and paraded the decks.

The President-nominated "Senior Pollywog"—was handed a summons for the trial. He had been accused of "gross incompetency in failing to carry Maine and Vermont" in the elections.

The "shellbacks"—so called because they have become hardened in crossing the equator—put the neophytes through rigorous preparation.

When each of the initiates sat in a tilting chair he was dumped into a tank of water and ducked by his "betters." Then he was forced to run the gauntlet, with husky shellbacks wielding wet canvas clubs filled with sawdust.

Just what President Roosevelt had to go through was not known aboard the Chester.

We're putting in coal too, neighbor!

Yes, sir! Winter's coming and we're getting ready for it just as you are. Putting in coal. Keeping fires going. Doing all the things that keep a home warm and friendly.

You see, we maintain a home too—your "Home Sweet Home" on rails. So we buy coal—thousands of tons of it—and we build fires . . . and shovel snow . . . and remove sleet and ice . . . so that your "home on rails" will be pleasant, inviting, safe, no matter what the weather.

And though sometimes you may be inclined to think of us as nothing more than a safe, comfortable means of transportation . . . we are actually a neighbor of yours—a very human sort of neighbor with a hankering to talk with you across the fence about the homely things that concern us both. That's the way with neighbors, isn't it?

Different . . . but Symbols of the Same Idea

Scarcely a section of this nation is not witnessing today dramatic evidence of the progressiveness of the American railroads.

This evidence may take the form of faster freight and passenger schedules, lower rates, air-conditioning, door to door handling of freight, streamlined trains, or constantly improved roadways.

In whatever form you see these examples of enterprise—you see different symbols of the same idea—to provide the American people with the safest, most serviceable and progressive transportation system in the world.

Seats Still Available For White's 'Scandals'

Manager A. F. Winecoff, of the Er-langer theater, yesterday denied that seats for the three performances of George White's "Scandals" to be given at that house Friday and Saturday next, were all sold.

"There are still a number of excellent seats available both for the night shows and for the Saturday matinee," said Mr. Winecoff. "Several people have called and told us they had heard we were sold out, but this is not true."

With Helen Morgan and Eugene George White is sending his best possible company here to present the latest version of his "Scandals."

PATIENTS GIVE BAZAR AT WARM SPRINGS HALL

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 24.—Patients of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation presented a bazar here. Featured event of the evening was a play, written by Vincent Curran, a patient, entitled "Traces and Braces." Mrs. Charles Irwin, wife of the medical director, was director of the play. There were 13 scenes in the play, including comedy acts, songs and skits.

After the play there was a buffet supper, after which booths of the bazar were opened.

The entire bazar was produced and presented by the foundation family, including the scenery and arrangements of the booths in Georgia hall.

Judge Gilbert, who retires December 31 after a long judicial career, said the American constitution simply outlines the fundamentals of this country's government. If it needs to be amended, he said, "let us be absolutely sure that the reasons are good and sufficient and not merely for the sake of serving the purposes of one or more minorities, tightly organized and possessing an unsatisfied appetite."

More light is needed on public questions, Judge Gilbert declared, adding

JURIST WARNS AGAINST GOVERNMENT CHANGES

America Should Go Slow in Amending Constitution, Judge Gilbert Says.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Judge Sterling Price Gilbert, associate justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, warned today against "gifts of new and strange thoughts, of new and strange forms of government" as a threat to American ideals of freedom.

"The scrapping of our system would project us into a mess of hardship, poverty and suffering such as our people never dreamed of," Judge Gilbert told an annual joint Civic Club meeting here.

that in between political campaigns is the best time for education on such matters.

"Now is the time for clear thinking. There is no political campaign in progress and the needs of government may be studied without thought of candidates, their interests or personal popularity."

In political campaigns there is too much appealing to the emotions and not enough to reason, the jurist said. "Information is preferable to confusion."

FARMERS WILL DECIDE FUTURE OF SOIL PLAN

Secretary Wallace, in Georgia, Says Agriculturalists To Determine Program.

TIFFIN, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said here today the future of the soil conservation program is up to the farmers themselves.

Wallace came here during a tour of inspection of resettlement projects and rehabilitation families in Alabama and Georgia. He left late in the day for Macon to hold a night conference with agricultural workers. His schedule calls for departure from Atlanta at noon tomorrow for Washington.

The trip was made to obtain first-hand information for guidance in working out future farm policies of the administration.

Taking over the Resettlement and Rehabilitation Administrations by the Department of Agriculture, Wallace said, "would appear to be the natural and logical procedure."

The soil conservation program must be worked out in such a way that would not handicap the farmers in some sections to the benefit of those in other sections; must be developed as a program for the good of the farmers of the nation as a whole, he said.

After inspecting the Irwinville farms project, Wallace made a trip back to Tiffin to inspect the breeding work being done with pasture grasses and complimented the station and its director, S. H. Starr, on the work being accomplished at the Coastal Experiment station.

BUS PIONEER DIES
WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A cold contracted at the Army-Navy football game in New York caused the death today of Frank Marx, 51, who built a transcontinental bus service from a single passenger car on the short run between Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth 28 years ago.

MOTORCADE DEDICATES CENTRAL DIXIE HIGHWAY

Jacksonville Mayor Urges That Roaming Cattle Be Driven Off Highways.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Celebrating completion of the paving of the Central Dixie highway, a motorcade of Georgians arrived here tonight.

The visitors were guests at a banquet, where speakers told of the deplorable condition of former highways connecting Florida and Georgia.

About 125 persons were in the party when it arrived here.

The procession stopped at Macon and Fitzgerald, Ga., where Mayor John T. Alsop Jr. of Jacksonville, who acted as toastmaster, drew applause when he suggested the two states drive roaming cattle from their highways.

A. N. Seward, president of the Fitzgerald Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the motorcade, spoke for the visitors.

FITZGERALD HOST
FITZGERALD, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Highway enthusiasts today celebrated completion of paving of the Central Dixie highway with a motorcade from Atlanta to Jacksonville.

Leaving Atlanta this morning, the motorcade was joined by additional cars at Griffin, Barnesville, Macon and other cities along the route to Fitzgerald. At Macon the party stopped to receive the greetings of city officials and civic leaders.

The party entertained at a barbecue dinner at the Legion home here at noon. The "cue" was served by young ladies of the home economics class of the local high school.

Music during the dinner was furnished by the high school orchestra and Boys' Glee Club.

After the barbecue where the party left for Folkston, where they were met by a delegation of Floridians and escorted into Jacksonville.

EX-TEACHER TURNS TO TURKEY RAISING

Georgetown Woman Has Flocks of 600 Thanks-giving Birds.

GEORGETOWN, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Classroom efficiency, applied to a farm, put Miss Edith Brannon, retired school teacher, of Georgetown, in the class of successful turkey raisers today.

After many years of teaching, Miss Brannon decided to leave the school and instead concentrate on raising turkeys for the national Thanksgiving bird.

A chorus of "Gobble, gobble, gobble" from 600 birds now greets her every morning, and she has flocks twice that size during her 10 years of raising them.

A farm hand and his watchdog tend the birds, which are sold in city markets and restaurants by the truckloads.

Miss Brannon said that in addition to the fact that she finds raising turkeys interesting, it also gives her an outdoor life which she enjoys from a health standpoint.

MURDER OF WOMAN LAID TO TRUCK DRIVER

Sherman Logue, of Whigham, Charged With Slaying Near Bainbridge.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Bertha Owens, 34, victim of a piney woods attack, was buried at Trinity church in Grady county today while a murder charge was lodged against Sherman Logue, 35-year-old truck driver, of Whigham.

The murder warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Maston O'Neal on an affidavit supplied by Constable R. T. Humphrey.

Bobby Owens, 20-month-old son of Mrs. Owens, whom a negro boy found beside her body near a dirt road 12 miles south of this city, continued to improve in a Bainbridge hospital.

Physicians said they were holding the child under instructions of Sheriff W. J. Catledge.

The sheriff reported Logue, lodged in jail at Albany, denied committing the crime, but said blood found on his car was that of a hog. He said he left Mrs. Owens at her home Saturday night.

Catledge said there were bloodstains on Logue's coat, shirt, trousers and shoes and that he would ask a chemist for an analysis.

He reported no fingerprints were found on a tire tool uncovered near the body of Mrs. Owens.

FUTRELL CANCELS TENANCY MEETING

U. S. Body Named To Study Problems, Governor Explains.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Governor J. M. Futrell today cancelled the proposed national conference on farm tenancy which he had called to be held at Hot Springs December 3 and 4. He announced he felt it would not be necessary in view of President Roosevelt's recent appointment of a national commission to study the subject.

"In view of the national commission's appointment, and for the further fact that a number of governors are leaving office at the end of the year, I feel it would be imprudent to attempt to hold the proposed conference," he said.

"I am hopeful that a number of governors or their representatives will attend the Arkansas centennial tree-planting ceremony to be held at Little Rock December 5, and we might have some informal discussion of the tenancy questions at that time."

Futrell made his announcement at a session of the Arkansas Farm Tenancy Commission.

Stomach Gas So Bad Seems To Hurt Heart

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

"In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." As your bowels are clean, Adlerika with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just take a few bottles of Adlerika and stubborn constipation will disappear.

Tech, Georgia Forced Indoors; Mehre May Forego Scrimmage

BREAK O'DAY!
By Ralph McKee

Yesterday it was raining over at Athens. One of those cold rains. One of those days when one sits dreaming of getting away to some place where there is quietness in large chunks and where a log fire burns and a bird dog or so lies in front of it. Where there is the smell of wood smoke, nostalgic and mysterious like some voice calling from out of the past. One of those days when there are books handy and—

It was raining in Athens.

"We won't do much work," said Coach Harry Mehre. "We can't. The boys still look tired."

"Coming back from New York they looked to me like a team that had reached its peak and was all washed up for the year."

"They look tired all right. But you know what they say?"

"What?"

"They say they've got one more shot left."

"No fooling?"

"No fooling. That's what they say. One more shot left. I've got to believe them. I want to. They told me they'd play that way against Florida and did. They said the same thing and beat Tulane. And then beat Fordham."

"And now, they've got one more left?"

"Yes, they haven't shown any pepper but they've said they had one more game like that left—not two—but one more left."

"For the Tech game?"

"That's what they say."

"Well, you never can tell."

"No, you never can tell."

"In Atlanta they are giving Tech a touchdown advantage. It looks like that much, if not more, to me."

"Well, I'm just telling you what the boys say."

"One more shot left in the football game?"

"They say so. Far be it from me to deny these kids. They've done all I've asked."

"You've got a lot of crimples left?"

"Three or four. Cavan is the newest one."

"Well, you never can tell about this game."

"No, you never can tell."

NEVER IN ATHENS.

Georgia Tech, because it has team speed, which Georgia has not; because it has better backs and ends and stacks up as a better football team, is the logical favorite to win from Georgia at Athens on Saturday and make it two straight.

The professional gamblers who are not like the alumni groups who bet with their hearts, are "giving six or taking seven." Which means Tech has a touchdown the better of it. By game time Tech will be a 12-point favorite.

But, one never can tell.

Tech, for instance, has never won from Georgia at Athens. Tech, as a matter of fact, hadn't won from Georgia on any field since the 1927 season until Tech won last fall at Grant field.

Georgia was routed this year in the L. S. U. and Tennessee games. And defeated in two others. Georgia came from the wreckage of those games to win two conference contests and tie Fordham.

Georgia Tech hasn't been routed in a single game. Tech has lost games by close margins. Last week Tech scored two more touchdowns against Florida than did Georgia and had to use every man available to hold down the score to 38 points.

Tech has the better football team—speed, ability and a superior physical condition.

But the Georgia boys say they can fire one more football blast.

HOW NOT TO HELP YOUR STAR.

At least two young football players of exceptional ability have had their chances at an All-American position endangered by the exuberant and persistent labors of press agents.

The two gentlemen responsible for naming the two most-sought-after teams, have been deluged with telegrams, letters and telephone calls to such an extent they are being led to believe there must be something wrong with the entire idea.

And one college press agent, with no All-American to offer, nevertheless is offering one. His system is unique. He sends in a long lot of clippings and comments each week, mostly from unknowns. He also has been known to rush in and have some visiting coach, who can't very well refuse, sign a statement saying his star Whosis is a great player. This is mimeographed and sent out in fables. All of which if he only knew it, is being dumped into the waste baskets unread as soon as they see whom it's from.

The men picking the teams make a painstaking effort to obtain reliable information from reliable sources. And their work is pretty thorough. All the unsolicited wires and letters praising some back or lineman do no good at all. And, in some cases, make for prejudice.

VERY LITTLE SLEEPING.

You may be sure that Frank Thomas is doing very little sleeping at Tusculooosa.

By Ray Morrison.

Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 24.—Football in the Southeastern conference during the 1936 season showed more of a trend toward well-organized team play than individual player distinction. Thus it is more difficult than ever to select an all-star eleven.

I have made my choice not only from my own observation, but also from advice from scouts and coaches and, in some few instances, even the players. I have taken into consideration the caliber of opposition played by a team and a player's durability, speed, strength and all-round talent.

Eight teams are represented on the all-conference team, Alabama, Auburn and Tulane placed two each, and Georgia, S. C. U., Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Sewanee and Vanderbilt one each.

It is true that Louisiana State has one of the very best records in the nation, but it was gained more through the quality of all-round strength, highly capable reserves and good coaching rather than the individual performance of any one man. The one exception is Gaynell Tinsley, who was a unanimous choice for All-American end last year.

GAYNELL TINSLEY.

Tinsley distinguished himself again this season by his alert performance in every game. While an exceptional pass receiver and good blocker, I believe he was recognized just as much this year for his splendid defensive work. A keen diagnostician of plays, any number of times he followed this with jarring tackles that caused fumbles and led to L. S. U. touchdowns.

Joel Eaves, of Auburn, is placed at the other end. Here is a boy of remarkable stamina who has no apparent weakness. His greatest asset is the uncanny ability to get into the clear to catch passes. He is deadly on covering punts, too. Other good ends are Jordan, of Georgia Tech; Shoemaker, of Alabama; and Gelatka, of Mississippi State.

The crop of tackles was not as good as last year when the Big 13 boasted Patterson, Throgmorton, Whitley, Rukas and others. There are two good ones, though, in Colmore, of Sewanee, and Moss, of Tulane, both line stalwarts.

Guards of top ranking are White, of Alabama; Fitzsimons, of Georgia Tech; Baldwin, of L. S. U.; Gault, of Auburn; and Lane, of Florida. White is a fast boy and murderous blocker, perhaps the most valuable lineman on the Alabama team. The same goes for Fitzsimons.

GREAT CENTER.

I have been coaching football for 20 years and never have laid eyes on a better center than Carl Hinkle, of Vanderbilt. This boy probably has averaged 25 tackles a game backing up the line and in four of the hardest games this year played the entire game.

Weighing 185 and active as a cat, Hinkle is a deadly tackle, a good pass defender and a most dependable snapperback. I haven't seen him make a bad pass in two years. Seldom has the conference produced more good centers, others being Gilbert, of Auburn; Stewart, of L. S. U.; Myers, of Kentucky; and Preston, of Georgia Tech.

No coach could hope for a more versatile backfield than Riley, of Alabama; Dickens, of Tennessee; Bryan, of Tulane, and Kilgore, of Auburn. This unit has everything.

Vines, Lott, Perry To Make Net Tour

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Promoters Frank Hunter and Howard Vossell announced today George Lott will make a national pro tennis exhibition tour with Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry opening in Madison Square Garden January 6. A fourth player of international reputation will complete the group.

The semi-final looks very good. Vines, Lott, Perry and the great Indian net specialist, it should be a roiling, bruising battle. Vines has the most experience, but Lott is a wrestler, who incidentally is quite a wrestler, takes on Roland Kirchner in the first match at 8:30.

This game is one of the closest contested of any on either team's schedules and is sure to be attended by a large crowd from both Rome and Cedartown.

Five Former Atlanta Prep Stars Play Here Tomorrow

When the Tech and Georgia freshmen go to work tomorrow afternoon at Grant field in the annual Turkey Day battle for the benefit of the Scottish Rite hospital for crippled children, the five boys shown above, all former Atlanta prep stars, will do their part. The players, left to right, performers for the Georgia Bulldogs, are Billy Mims, Tarzan Jordan and Ben Erlich, Boys' High; Al Simonton, Marist, and Dick Jones, Boys' High.

Big 10 Attendance Shows Increase

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Football attendance in the Western conference for the 1936 season was the greatest since 1927, peak year of the sport.

Receipts probably would reach $1,700,000, said Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics tonight, basing his estimates on incomplete returns. These figures, however, will be about $1,000,000 below those of 1927, when receipts mounted to $2,777,000, all-time high in the "Big Ten."

The leanest year was 1932, when the receipts dropped to $973,380. "Our receipts this year will be about 30 per cent higher than 1932 and above those of last year, when the total was $1,319,100," Major Griffith said.

Roche, Brown Are Great Rivals

One of the greatest rivalries in heavyweight wrestling will be resumed Friday night at the Atlanta theater when Orville Brown, the Missouri farmer boy, meets Dorv Roche, the tigerish Slav from the coal regions of Scranton, Pa.

Brown and Roche, when they are past wrestling age, will probably look back across the years and say of one another: "That son of a gun was the toughest man I ever met. Boy, what a wrestler he was! We used to have some of the greatest matches the game has ever seen. I hated him then, still I respected his ability, and if I could see him today, I'd be glad to shake his hand and talk over the good old days."

Young Mr. Brown and the equally youthful Mr. Roche, both under 20, are on a par with one another, under any circumstances, be persuaded to speak so favorably of one another today. They are fierce rivals and natural enemies, but they are willing to concede the other anything. Each man considers himself the superior wrestler. Their past matches indicate they are on a par with one another.

Dorv and Orville are two of the cleanest and best liked matmen in the business, yet when they get into the same ring they shoot the works and let fly fists and other illegal weapons as would some of the game's most notorious villains. It is dog eat dog and they really go to war.

Three times they have met in Atlanta with each winning a match and the other struggle ending in a draw. Fans virtually forced Promoter Frank Vossell to rematch these champions as the house will be packed Friday night.

The semi-final looks very good. Vines, Lott, Perry and the great Indian net specialist, it should be a roiling, bruising battle. Vines has the most experience, but Lott is a wrestler, who incidentally is quite a wrestler, takes on Roland Kirchner in the first match at 8:30.

Ex-Team-Mates Clash In Frosh Battle Here

Bullpups Have Two Prep All-Southern Backs on Squad; Jackets Have One.

By Jack Troy.

There is some inclination on the part of more enthusiastic Bulldog supporters to call Billy Mims, the former Boys' High back, the best prospective passer since the days of Roy Estes.

Mims made a great record as a scholastic player. He made the All-Southern as a member of the Purple Hurricane last year. It's not so much his running as his passing, blocking and excellent field judgment that stamp Mims apart.

Then there's Ben Erlich, who played in the same backfield with Mims at Boys' High. He was an All-Southern, too. He's a fine runner, hard blocker and a strong tackler.

Jim Jones, center, also was an all-prep the same year Phil Richards, Tech Baby Jacket guard, was named on the All-Southern. They were running mates then.

But tomorrow they'll be on opposite sides of the line and an interesting prospect thus will be offered.

Dick Jones, center, also was an all-prep at Boys' High. A most promising pivot man, he is expected to understate Quentin Lumpkin next season.

Ahner Simonton was an all-prep guard at Marist, but he since has been shifted to center on the Bulldog squad.

Jimmy Fordham did most of his high school playing barefooted and in overalls at Graymont, Ga. He's a 195-pound fullback, said to be faster than Bill Hartman and a power on defense.

Among other all-state and all-prep players on the Bulldog team are Alex McCaskill, end, who prepped at Lanier, and Bruce Long, guard, who played for Knoxville High school.

A most promising game is in the offing between the Bulldogs and Tech's leading backs are Jim Spensard, Mount Hope, W. Va.; Tommy Brooks, Lanier, Macon; Julius Page, Shaw High, Raleigh; Bobby Bears, Newman; Howard Ector, West Point, Ga.; and Elmer McPherson, Fairbury, Nebraska.

Richards and Travers Paine, the latter from Valdosta, are strong guards. Charley Wood and Eaton Lackey are promising tackles. Along with Alvin Kerstein and Bill Cunningham.

Roane Beard, former Boys' High player and teammate of Erlich and Mims, is the Baby Jacket center.

The ends include George Roberts and Jim Clay, from Boys' High; Robert Ison, Druid Hills, and William Shumaker, Norcross.

The Baby Jackets are stressing offense. And also the holding of the football. They were routed by Auburn mainly because of an inability to hold the ball.

It will be the second and final game of the year for the Baby Jackets. Georgia's freshmen have played two games. They lost to Florida, 13 to 6, and defeated G. M. C. 25 to 12. Four of the best Bulldog players were injured and unable to play against Florida.

By all odds, the game Thursday should be a great one for a great cause.

RUTH WILL TALK TO ALBANY CLUB

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(UP)—Babe Ruth, offered the management of the Albany club of the International league, will confer with Owner Joe Cambria this week, the Bambino's manager, Christy Walsh, revealed today.

Indicating that Ruth probably would not accept management of a minor league club, Walsh said the Babe would listen to Cambria's proposition "which may be more attractive than we expect, and in that case—"

20,000 EXPECTED TO WATCH RIVALS CLASH SATURDAY

Mack Furlow, Jacket Tackle, III; Bulldogs Give Injured a Rest.

By Jack Troy.

A steady drizzle kept the Georgia Tech squad indoors yesterday.

The rest of the time was spent in the gym looking at Georgia plays and in the lecture room viewing pictures of the Tech-Florida game.

"Don't look at the ball-carrier," Coach Alex instructed the squad. "Pick yourself out on each play and see what you did right or wrong."

RE-RUN PLAY.

That play where Charlie Root, Florida tackle, was allowed through to block Lawrence Hays' punt early in the game, was re-run several times.

And there were other plays, especially one flat pass, where Tech players failed to close in on the inside, Roy Mundorf, operating the camera, had to run that one back a couple of times.

Some impromptu announcing was offered by John Wilton Hunter, 10-year-old "luck piece" whom the Tech players have nicknamed Inky.

John Wilton, who will accompany the team to Athens, looks like the counterpart of a colored kid that plays in our Gang Comedies.

When a Tech player would fall past the sidelines in the pictures, Inky would exclaim, "Out of bounds." He also picked out Scrappy Edwards on one of his runs and spoke up in the deep silence—"That's Mist' Moore. He sho' can run."

SCRIMMAGE SLATED.

Tech has one scrimmage coming up against Georgia plays. It will be held today if weather permits.

All the players except Phil Chance, who hasn't been counted on, and Mack Furlow are in pretty good shape. If Furlow is confined to bed for the remainder of the practice days, Tech will be in some kind of a fix at the tackle positions.

As things now stand, Glenn Cushing and Bud Lindsey are available as starters, with only Walter Rimmer in reserve.

Captain Milt Fitzsimons' injured ankle is coming around. He is still limping a bit. But the rest of yesterday helped. He'll surely be ready to start.

SUCH WEATHER.

The weather that set in yesterday was reminiscent of the week during the Alabama game. The only difference was that Tech got in a Monday scrimmage that week. And this past Monday saw the Jackets working mainly on signal drill and looking for

Subsidizing Laid To Big 10 Schools

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Daily Maroon, University of Chicago student newspaper, asserted today that all except "two or three Big Ten schools used various undercover methods of subsidizing athletes" and urged discontinuance of football activity in the Western conference unless the alleged practices were curbed.

The Maroon, in an editorial, said the university's future course should be determined by the attitude conference officials adopt toward the Wisconsin "Reynolds plan" for open subsidization of athletes, and the alleged "undercover" methods, at its meeting in Chicago December 4 and 5.

James D. Hoskins, president of the University of Tennessee, announced today that a meeting of the executive committee of the athletic council has been called to discuss the possibility of giving part or all of Tennessee's share of the game to the former Tennessee center.

Tade, who lingered near death for months in a Lexington hospital, now lives with his parents at Paducah, Ky. Hoskins said the university's athletic council has set up a trust fund at the Paducah bank to take care of Tade's needs for over a year.

Last January the university sent Tade to New York for an examination by brain specialists. They reported he was "beyond the reach of medical science."

Tade, who was shot in the head by a bullet fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver, was in the hospital for over a year.

Morrison Gives 'Yandy' 'Outside Chance' to Beat Alabama

SEES HARD GAME AHEAD FOR L. S. U. AGAINST TULANE

Says Vols Will Shake Off Kentucky Jinx by Comfortable Win.

By Ray Morrison.

Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 24.—The football season in the south will make its farewell bow Saturday and it's an even bet whether it will slip away noiselessly or wind up with a bang.

First of the week's fireworks comes on Thursday as far as the South-western conference is concerned, probably will bring a new champion to that section. No team ever repeats for the title in the southwest and this year is no exception.

The Texas Aggies met the University of Texas in what always is a great game, a game that has seen many upsets, it will be a close one this time, but the Aggies should come through with their first championship in many years. That's the top battle of the day in the Southwest with Baylor meeting Rice and S. M. U. playing Texas Christian Saturday.

I give Baylor and T. C. U. a slight edge.

L. S. U. EYES BAMA. In the Southeastern conference, L. S. U. is watching Alabama and vice versa. Both teams have been mentioned as Rose Bowl and Sugar Bowl prospects and a lot depends upon the outcome of this week's games.

It has been mentioned that it would be a shame, perhaps a pity, if Vanderbilt failed to spoil Alabama's chance and for Tulane to foil L. S. U.'s chance of going to Pasadena. That, of course, is a joke.

Vanderbilt will be out there trying its best to beat the Crimson Tide and I'm sure Tulane will be doing the same against the Tigers. Doubtless the bowl chances are an incentive, but I'm giving both Vanderbilt and Tulane a chance. Neither of these games will be any runaway.

Tennessee, I think, will be prepared to shake off the Kentucky jinx with a comfortable win, and it is probable that the Blue Devils will complete the season unbeaten in the conference and looking only to Tennessee outside.

V. M. I. ranks second to Duke with five victories and one loss and is the choice over V. P. I. North Carolina will run up a score on Virginia. Perhaps the closest game of the day will be Furman against Clemson and that's a tossup.

Petro Rossi Defeats Indian on Mat

Count Petro Rossi, proved to the big crowd of fans who attended the wrestling match last night at the Spring Street arena that he is just as rough as you make them. He defeated the fast-stepping Indian, Chippewa Charlie, and made him like it. The Italian coach can outslug John Mauldin, he is stronger than Jack Ross and can step faster than George Romanoff. With this method of attack he will be a hard man for any wrestler to stop.

Don Jose, the Mexican grappler, was disqualified in the third fall during his match with the Chinaman, Chin Lee. It was a great bout throughout and the Mexican started his rough tactics.

Tony Papalino and John Ellis wrestled 30 minutes to a draw. The promoters announced another splendid card will be held at the North Side arena Friday night.

Neyland Fears Vols Not Serious Enough

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP) Coach Bob Neyland expressed fear today that his Tennessee Volunteers "don't have their minds on beating Kentucky" in the annual Thanksgiving Day game here.

"It's the same old story," he said. "We have a letdown after the Vanderbilt game, and we don't seem to be able to get the boys in the right mental attitude to play hard football against Kentucky."

The Wildcats twice in previous years have ruined perfect seasons for Tennessee with ties. Today, Neyland said he would throw the defense into a drill against Kentucky's Notre Dame attack.

A Few Baseball Notes

Yanks Refuse To Play Night Ball; Feller Case Decision Eagerly Awaited.

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Around the hot stove league.

Orphans. . . While Commissioner Landis ponders two momentous cases, three major league ball players are worrying about their futures. . . They are Bob Feller, Lee Handley and Louie Frey. . . Whose players they are nobody knows. . . The Cleveland club is accused of picking up Feller in violation of the major league league agreement. . . Same goes for Cincinnati on Handley. . . The Reds have traded Handley for Lonnie Frey, shortstop and captain of the 1935 Brooklyn Dodgers, but the deal is being held up. . . Opinion around the club offices is that Judge Landis will have a conflicting rule changed at the major league meetings and let both Cincinnati and Cleveland keep their players. . . This will probably give the Dodgers one of the young key-stone combinations in the majors. Handley at one post and Tony Malnesky, who was with Louisville last year, at the other.

Larry McPhail, fiery former general manager of the Reds, may go into the newspaper business in Tennessee. . . His only connection with baseball now is with the Macon club. . . He's vice president of that one. . . Vic Aldridge, former Chicago Cubs pitcher, was elected to the Indiana senate in the Democratic landslide. . . If ever a man had a chance of benefiting by a mistake, Billy Evans has. . . Evans was general manager of the Cleveland club when Feller was signed. . . If the commissioner decided Evans had no right to sign him, Feller will be a free agent, and Evans, who is now with the Boston Red Sox, will have a chance to sign him again.

Jake Powell, hero of the Yanks' World Series triumph, is out in Dayton, Ohio, visiting his old pal, Frank McNew, of the Dayton police force. . . McNew arranged a job on the Cleveland team in 1933, and the youngster almost quit ball to take it. . . At that, Powell hasn't completely given over the idea. . .

Trotter Nets $15,000 In Gotham Auction

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Mr. McElwain, one of the country's greatest standard bred horses, was sold for $15,000 at the 42d Old Glory auction sale of trotters and pacers at the Madison Square Garden today.

Homer D. Biery, of Butler, Pa., acting for Lawrence B. Sheppard's Hanover (Pa.) farm, was the successful bidder for the 15-year-old stallion, which hung up a mark of 1:39 1/4 10 years ago. The horse was consigned by Henry Knight, of Chicago, who owns the Almahurst farm, of Lexington.

Vansandt, a younger stallion from the same consignment with a mark of 2:00 3/4, followed his older and more famous stablemate into the auction ring and was knocked down to F. C. Podesta, of Memphis, Tenn., for $4,500.

Piedmont, Campbell Clash on Thursday

DEMOREST, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Piedmont's Lions seek to avenge their victory to their list Thursday, when they meet Campbell College, North Carolina, at Demorest at 2 p. m.

With impressive wins in the last two starts, Piedmont is optimistic over the result of the Thursday Day encounter. Coach W. D. Hazeman has brought his squad along nicely since losing the opening fiasco to Appalachian 105-0.

Despite injuries which rendered ineffective the main backfield threats, the Lions handily defeated Sacred and Abraham Baldwin, the most recent opponents.

Demand Started For Bowl Tickets

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The annual national clamor for tickets to the Rose Bowl football game has started in earnest, despite the fact the game is six weeks away, neither team has been selected—and the tickets have not been placed on sale.

For days letters from all corners of the country have been rolling into Tournament of Roses headquarters containing checks and applications for tickets. The volume indicated a capacity crowd of 85,000 in the huge bowl January 1.

Returning the applications and checks to the senders, tournament officials explained that none are accepted until the west's leading football team has been selected by the Pacific Coast conference, and athletic officials of the school arrive in Pasadena to take over arrangements for the game.

This year the coast team selection hinges on the outcome of the Thanksgiving Day game between the Washington Huskies and the Washington State Cougars at Seattle.

PURPLE ELEVEN READY FOR TEST AGAINST MIAMI

Jacksonville School Seeks Atlantans To Play There Next Year.

By Roy White.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 24.—Boys' High's football team arrived here shortly after dark tonight, en route to Miami, Fla., and a Thanksgiving Day game with Miami High. The Purples will continue the trip to south Florida Wednesday morning after an all-night stop here.

A large group of football fans, including Jacksonville newspapermen, crowded around the hotel lobby shortly after the Purples arrived and began asking Coach Doyal and Keith about their three-year undefeated record.

Large groups of football fans, including Jacksonville newspapermen, crowded around the hotel lobby shortly after the Purples arrived and began asking Coach Doyal and Keith about their three-year undefeated record.

Tech High plays Landon High here Thursday night December 3, the season game and an all-star Jacksonville eleven plays Riverside Military Academy here in a New Year's game.

Efforts were made tonight to schedule a game between Boys' High and some Jacksonville eleven for next year, and Athletic Director and Coach Shorty Doyal, of Boys' High, took the proposition under advisement.

NEARLY COMPLETE. The Purples' schedule for next year is almost complete, but Jacksonville will have a post-season game here last year, but the players voted no and negotiations were immediately dropped.

While officials were discussing possibilities of some future game, Landon High supporters queried Boys' High players for information on the Boys' High Tech High game.

"That Tech High team was one of the toughest we played all season. The Smithies made nine first downs, and four of them resulted in the first touchdown. The game was a close one, but we won by a score of 14-0."

Boys' High has always been favored for a Jacksonville game and efforts were made to have the Purples play a post-season game here last year, but the players voted no and negotiations were immediately dropped.

Boys' High could give no definite information on the Riverside-Cornell game only to say that the Blue Battalion is touchdown crazy and doesn't know when to stop. "It's one of the greatest prep teams ever assembled in the south. It's a real team."

The players were somewhat tired and worn, but with another two nights' rest and a day of shouldering for Miami High, Thursday afternoon.

State Quail, Turkey Are Best in World, Visitor Here States

Georgia quail hunting proved to be a lure to Morris Ackerman, outdoor editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, who stopped in Atlanta yesterday for a visit with Zack Craver, state commissioner of game and fish.

Ackerman, who is known in the east as the "Ripper of the outdoor world," is en route from his home at Cleveland, Ohio, to Madison, Ga., for a few days' quail hunting.

He is traveling in Alaska, the Yukon, Labrador, Newfoundland, Mexico, the West Indies, and all 48 states in search of interesting hunting and fishing stories for his thousands of readers. He has answered over 10,000 personal requests already this year.

Ackerman states that Georgia still provides the best quail and wild turkey hunting to be found anywhere in the world today.

Coaches Lockert and Graves are working overtime with their Morris Brown charges to have them in the best condition of the year.

At Clark University, the mentors are working in strict secrecy. "They are working seriously on their offense and hope to crack the forward wall of the Wolverines which has not had a touchdown registered against it in nine straight games, counting three from last season."

Red Sox Release Vet Dibs Williams

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—(UP)—Outright release of Dibs Williams, Boston Red Sox utility infielder, by the Rochester club of the International League was announced tonight.

The Red Sox management said Williams was sent to Rochester to complete payment for Buster Mills, hard-hitting young outfielder, who was purchased last season.

Williams, who was obtained from the Philadelphia Athletics at the start of the 1935 season, was optioned last season to the Little Rock club of the Southern league.

Down the Alleys

It is apparent that several new records will be established by the major league teams this season, with local and national pin marks falling by the wayside.

Among the first of the crop of national records was a new high team game score by the Yankees, who defeated the St. Louis Browns 19-0 on Saturday.

Breaking record was the 200 individual game bowled by Jack Zimmerman, of the Winchester team.

Williamson's Scientific Football Ratings and Predictions

By P. B. Williamson.

Representative football games throughout the United States this week-end are listed below with each team's rating according to the Williamson National Rating System. Where no rating is given, the schedule is insufficient for calculating one clearly. Some omissions may be due to incomplete returns. Every college and normal team is invited to send its record and schedule to Williamson National Rating System, Inc., 608 Common St., New Orleans, La.

EXPLANATION: Figure after each team is its rating according to the current Williamson football rating table published last Tuesday. In "Predict" column: 1, means win for No. 1 Team; 2, means win for No. 2 Team; 3, means possible tie game or close outcome; 4, means prediction reversed against ratings; No. 1 Team plays at home. X, Friday afternoon; Y, Friday night; Z, Saturday night.

Where the symbol "T" appears with a number in the Predict column, the team is favored, but a close outcome may be expected. The difference of a percentage point or less in the ratings of two teams often indicates that their game is a "toss-up." However, in from 85 to 90 per cent of cases the higher rated team is due to win, even when the difference in ratings is small.

Tech, Georgia Forced Inside

ward to a big scrimmage on Tuesday. In the event of continued rain, weather, it would not only hamper preparations but also hurt the Tech-Georgia freshman game on Thanksgiving Saturday at Athens.

The Jackets do not have an inanimate luck piece such as a rabbit's foot. They do not have any sort of charm, but they are surrounded by a group of players who are as tough as nails.

Tech's luck piece is a kinked and stubby, black as moonless midnight and as tough as a colt in a pasture. He's 10 years old and answers to the name of John Wilton Hunter.

There's a story about John Wilton Hunter. Before the Kentucky game, Red Collins, jacket blocking back, spied the young negro outside the gates at Grant Field.

Enlisting the aid of managers, he had young Hunter smuggled through the gates without cost and brought down to the Tech bench, where he sat in blissful ignorance and watched the Jackets win the Wildcat game.

John Wilton Hunter was not around for any more games until last Saturday. Red Collins started thinking about his luck piece, and so he went looking for him.

Needless to say, the youngster was on the bench again Saturday for the Florida game. Again managers smuggled him in. And when Tech won easily, that clinched it.

This week John Wilton Hunter, whose name is now of pearls and rubies, is a velvet background or a flash of sunshine through purple rain clouds, is a daily visitor at the Tech practices.

And Saturday, if Collins is able to secure permission of the mother, which seems assured, John Wilton Hunter will be on the train with the Jackets and sitting in the bench during the game. His lucky toy will come in for a lot of massaging by the players.

It's a powerful luck piece, says Red Collins. And it seems to be Tech has won two fine victories when the youngster was sitting on the bench.

All this week, as said, he is being given the freedom of the field. He has a football for his use and has been kicking up a storm. He likes his adopted team.

McLeod Will Start At End for Tiders

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 24.—(AP) Ben McLeod, senior end, was running with Alabama's first team in defensive drill against Vanderbilt's pass attack today as the Crimson Tide put finishing touches on its preparations for the Thanksgiving Day contest in Birmingham.

McLeod starred against Tulane and Georgia Tech and seems a likely starter at Warren's former post at left end. Percen Shoemaker, also a substitute in early games, will start at the other end.

Coach Frank Thomas said the team would be given another light workout tomorrow afternoon, before departing for Birmingham. He has been stressing the danger of over-confidence this week, pointing to the Vanderbilt victory over a favored Alabama team last year.

Bible Is Opposed To Dropping Pitt

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 24.—(AP) Dana X. Bible, football coach at the University of Nebraska, said today "our relationship with Pittsburg has been most cordial, and I feel that the games have been to our mutual benefit."

His statement was made after the returning Nebraska student newspaper, urged in an editorial today that "Pittsburgh be dropped from the Nebraska football schedule as soon as she can be replaced by a team which resorts to clean, wholesome, amateur practices."

Bible said, "I haven't even read the article in the Daily Nebraskan, and I see no reason for it. We have a contract with Pittsburg for two more years. We play there in 1937, and they come here in 1938."

EIGHT PETRELS CLOSE CAREERS THIS THURSDAY

Oglethorpe Favored Over Stetson Thanksgiving at DeLand, Fla.

EN ROUTE TO DE LAND, Fla., Nov. 24.—Eight Stormy Petrels will end their football careers today when the "Birds" meet the "Hatters" in the Turkey Day classic at DeLand, Fla. These men, who all have seen lots of service this year, are: Mack Rickard, Leonard Rickard, Jack Puryear, "Kit" Carson, Paul Neal, "Shorty" Clyburn, Bill Reynolds, and Henry Horton.

All of these men are expected to see lots of service in their final game and are out to accomplish a better record than has been made by an Oglethorpe team in several years.

Stetson has an outstanding man in Warren, who has been dealing out most of the trouble to Stetson's opponents this year. Oglethorpe will match this triple-threat man with a veteran backfield.

The Petrels should be familiar with the Stetson plays, because the Hatters used the same offense as the freshman team has been using all the year, which is the Notre Dame system.

Oglethorpe should rule a favorite according to the records so far this year. Stetson has been victorious in two games to Oglethorpe's five. Two of the teams Oglethorpe has beaten this year have won victories over the Florida eleven.

Ed Schwabe, who was shifted from quarterback to halfback this year, might be called upon for work in his former position if Buck Thomas, who is Jack Puryear's understudy, is unable to play because of his sore shoulder which

BOY BEATEN TO DEATH;
3 SCHOOLMATES HELD

BRADENTON, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—State Attorney Roy D. Stubbs said tonight he believed a small group of teen-age boys administered a fatal beating to Leroy Johnson, Palmetto Junior High school student.

Stubbs said he was holding three of Johnson's schoolmates for questioning. He reported Johnson died November 17 without talking, except when in delirious moments he was said to have begged repeatedly:

"Don't hit me again. You are killing me."

Stubbs said one of the boys told him the others beat Johnson because he refused to permit them to ride his brother's bicycle.

WOMAN IS KILLED ON HUNTING TRIP

Gunshot, Fatal to Miss Thigpen at Newington, Declared Accidental.

SYLVANIA, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Sheriff J. J. Griffin said tonight a young woman named as Miss Mildred Thigpen, 21, was killed in a duck hunting accident near Newington, Ga., today.

A charge from a shotgun, he said, struck Miss Thigpen in the heart and she died almost instantly.

Sheriff Griffin said the young woman named as "P. E. Gillis or Giller, of Columbus, Ga.," told investigators the shooting was accidental.

The sheriff added that the incident was called an accident at an inquest conducted by Coroner Robert Bennett, but that the hunter was being detained pending completion of the inquiry.

Planned for the ceremony, the capitol architects' office today contracted for 14,000 seats for President Roosevelt's January 20 inauguration.

For the first time all congressmen, as well as the cabinet, supreme court and diplomatic corps, will sit on the capitol's east portico immediately behind the President's pavilion.

In case of a snowstorm or extreme cold, the President probably will take his oath of office in the senate chamber, Capitol Architect David Lynn said.

FLORIDA WAGES FIGHT FOR CANAL APPROVAL

Speakers Say Election Proved State Wants "Waterway."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Speakers told several hundred business men here today that Jacksonville and Duval county are prepared to finance a final fight for approval of the favorable cross state canal report of a special board of army engineers.

Meeting to celebrate news of the report, called "entirely favorable" to the canal project, the group was told by Mayor John T. Alsop and other city and county officials that funds will be provided to send advocates of the waterway to Washington for a hearing December 16 on the report.

Meanwhile, in Washington the board of army engineers refused to defer the hearing, announcing the 30-day period of advertising already had been started, and postponement would result in unnecessary difficulty.

Congressman J. Hardin Peterson, of Lakeland, had asked that the board consider the report at a later meeting, probably after Congress convenes in January.

At the luncheon, here, speakers said the report meant a week-assured completion of the canal.

Thomas Imeson, chairman of the city commission, said the President and Congress had received ample evidence in the recent November election that Florida wants the canal.

"They can't tell them this time that the people are against it," Imeson said, "because we just finished electing two senators and a governor who are for the canal."

General Sumner L. Lowry said he had read the canal report, made public with an injunction against direct quotation of its words, and "if I had written it, I would not have changed a word."

Lowry said the Chamber of Commerce canal committee, of which he is chairman, would ask $25,000,000 for 1937 work on the canal.

The special board's report said the canal would not endanger the state's fresh water supply and said the project's benefits would be fully commensurate with its cost, estimated at $102,975,000.

In addition, the report figured interest during construction at $10,288,500 and non-federal expenditures of $6,187,500, making a total estimate of $16,476,000.

George Says Sleeping Car Porters
Should Be Called by Own Names

New President of Society to Stop Calling Pullman Headmasters 'George'; States They Should Be Given Title or Addressed by Own Cognomens.

VIENNA, Ga., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, new president of the Society for the Prevention of Calling Sleeping Car Porters "George," mapped a conservative course today toward the organization.

"I believe," he said in an informal statement of policy, "that porters should be called by some official title, perhaps 'porter,' why not call them by their own names?"

In this the Democratic senator was backed by statistics of George W. DuLany Jr., Chicago lumberman and banker, who appointed him chief executive yesterday to succeed George H. Moses, Republican former senator from New Hampshire.

Perennial secretary of the society he founded as a joke several years ago, DuLany claims a total membership of 30,000.

Senator George expressed surprise at his appointment, but pointed to long service in the vice presidency of the honorary and non-political organization as a qualification.

The senator is 55 years old. He went to the senate first November 7, 1922, to succeed the late Thomas E. Watson after service on the Georgia H. C. Shaw's four sons, H. R. Etheridge, of New York; O. R. Etheridge, of Atlanta; Troyce Etheridge, Detroit; and Ezzard T. Etheridge; her mother, Mrs. Angie Bradley, Auburn, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. H. S. Sikes and Mrs. J. L. Norris, and six brothers, R. D. Bradley, Odenville, Ala.; E. M. Bradley, Auburn, Ga.; L. J. Bradley, Atlanta; A. E. Bradley, Auburn, and T. M. and C. L. Bradley, Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Kirkwood Baptist church with the Revs. A. B. Couch, Claude Hendricks and Dr. K. O. White officiating.

Burial will be in Deatur cemetery, H. M. Patterson in charge.

MRS. T. J. GANN DIES AT RESIDENCE HERE

Mrs. T. J. Gann, 80, a resident of Atlanta since 1903, and a prominent member of the First Baptist church, died at 10:20 o'clock last night at her residence, 643 Cresthill avenue.

A native of Campbell, Ala., she was a graduate of LaGrange Female College.

She is survived by her husband; four daughters, Mrs. Marvin S. Rankin, Mrs. G. T. Cowart, Mrs. W. S. McGill and Miss Mabel Gann; five sons, Clay D., T. C. W. F. George F., and Roscoe B. Gann; a sister, Mrs. Hattie Powledge, Opelika, Ala., and a brother, Braxton Bragg Conine, Batesville, Ark.

Funeral services will be in charge of H. M. Patterson and Son.

BENEFACITOR HONORED BY EVENING SCHOOL

More than 700 University of Georgia evening school students last night paid tribute to Robert R. Johnson, the donor of $40,000 to the school, at a banquet at Shrine Mosque. The school glee club, the school playfactors, and an orchestra, furnished the entertainment.

For Louis T. Bates acted as toastmaster and speakers included Dr. George M. Sparks, director; J. C. Malone, Thornton Flanigan, of the alumni; T. M. McClellan, registrar, and Dr. S. V. Sanford.

GROCERY BURGLARS GET $300 FROM TILL

Burglars last night broke out a front window in a grocery store operated by M. Beerman at 307 Sixth street, and stole $300 in currency and checks from the cash register. The burglary was discovered at 11:40 o'clock by Radio Patrolmen D. Sims and R. F. Lawson.

Insurgent troops, led by tanks, attempted to force their way deeper into Madrid under a heavy barrage.

General Jose Maita, chief of the defense junta, meanwhile published a strongly worded refusal to recognize the so-called "neutral zone" in Madrid as safe from aerial bombardment.

Such a move, he declared, would be tantamount "to right of bombardment in other sections of the city."

ITALY INDIGNANT OVER SEIZURE

ROME, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The news of the Spanish Socialist raid on the former Italian Madrid embassy evoked fresh expressions on indignation tonight. Responsible sources, however, said they could not foresee possible repercussions because the Italian government recognized the Spanish Insurgent regime and consequently, had no official report on the incident. "Banditry," informed quarters commented.

BERLIN ANSWERS WITH SARCASTIC

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Nazi officialism was inclined to chuckle tonight over news from Madrid at the "German embassy" had been entered and sealed by Spanish militia.

"What Madrid embassy?" asked a spokesman ironically, "we've got none there and, besides, there is no Madrid government."

JUNEAU GIRL RESCUED FROM WRECKED HOUSE

Searchers Continue Hunt for Other Bodies in Landslide Debris.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Entombed in the wreckage of an apartment since Sunday by a landslide, three-year-old Lorraine Vassili was found alive and apparently uninjured tonight as rescue crews burrowed into the mass of earth and burning, broken wood.

Lorraine, protected by a triangle of timbers, was discovered in the demolished Nickinovich apartments not far from where five bodies were recovered yesterday and where the debris burned today.

Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vassili, and guest, Pete Battello, who were together with the child in the apartment Sunday, were still listed as missing, though there was a possibility one dead woman found might be Mrs. Vassili.

Nellie Dodd Orme will be the first of Georgia's wide circle of Atlanta friends to visit her at her Texas home, and there are all manner of good times planned for the charming Atlanta and her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Orme will detain in Dallas to spend several days in Mr. and Mrs. Golding's palatial town house. It is furnished in French antiques, augmented by valuable importations collected by the owners during their frequent visits to continental Europe. At the conclusion of their stay in Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Golding and their guests will motor to Rockport, Texas, where they will board the Golding yacht, Saltire.

The Saltire will weigh anchor and sail away to Matagorda island, where the Goldings maintain one of the most beautiful and up-to-date lodges in the country. Matagorda island is 45 miles long and six miles wide and is bordered by the Gulf of Mexico and Corpus Christi bay. It is a jewel as a hunting preserve, and with the season at its height for both fishing and hunting, the Goldings and the Ormes will enter a hunter's paradise when they answer the call of the wild.

Sally doubts if there are two more smartly dressed young matrons in her acquaintance than Nellie Orme and Georgia Golding and one can easily imagine what chic clothes they will wear on the hunt. Atlanta friends of Mr. and Mrs. Golding have very few opportunities to see them as their trips here are few and far between, but when they do find the time to visit their mother, Mrs. Charles F. Rice, and their sister, Mary Rice, at their Peachtree road home, every minute of their time is occupied. Mrs. Rice and Mary visited the Goldings last summer at their hunting lodge and their intimates have heard first hand of the beauties and charm of Matagorda island.

SOCIETY is still raving over the brilliant debut breakfast of Dorothy Shivers and Eloise Gresham given Saturday at the Driving Club, and Sally Forth was especially impressed with one of the beautiful floral tributes sent to Eloise. The formal garden, which was one of the outstanding features of the decorative motif, was further emphasized by the artistic crescent made of three dozen orchids ranging from deep purple to white.

The arrangement, fashioned to represent a silver cowbell, was outlined by the orchid crescent and gave the impression that each orchid represented a deb caught in the web of social gaiety. The arrangement was a gift to Eloise from Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Horgan, of Macon, life-long friends of the lovely debutante's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Gresham. Further carrying out the debutante feature was the crystal globe placed at the foot of the orchid arrangement to represent the world, and upon which reposed a delicate orchid to typify Eloise sitting on "top of the world."

Speaking of pretty Eloise sitting on "top of the world," she really is, because, in addition to her good times here, she is anticipating a trip to Savannah early next month, which will take her to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brantley. Her visit to the coastal city is primarily to attend the brilliant Cotillion Club ball, which corresponds to the Atlanta Halloween ball, when the debutantes made their collective bow to society. Eloise will be among the viting beauties bowing with the Savannah belles and will be the central figure at a number of parties given in her honor.

WHEN beautiful Louise MacIntyre walked up the aisle of the First Presbyterian church Monday evening to become the bride of Dr. Julius Hughes, she adhered to the traditional custom of wearing something old, something blue, something borrowed and something new. One of her most cherished bridal accessories was a gold antique bracelet outlined with tiny blue forget-me-nots, which combined the old and blue feature. The bracelet was given to her by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. T. J. Ripley, who as Pauline Howard received it when she was a young girl.

For the something borrowed, the bride wore long white kid gloves which had also been worn by the former Kathryn Jetton when she became Mrs. Abner Calhoun. Her rosepoint lace cap belonged to Martha McCrea when she became Mrs. Clifford Dangler, and Louise is the only bride who has worn it beside its owner.

If coming events cast their shadows before them, attractive Josephine Meador will be the next Atlanta belle to trod the orange blossom trail, for when Monday's bride threw her bouquet it was caught by Josephine. Julius and his bride dashed away to the train for their wedding trip and were accompanied to the station by a police escort of screaming sirens. Sally wonders if the same young man who so adroitly took movies during the ceremony at the church also made shots of the bride and groom and their official escort.

Miss Gantt Presented to Society At Luncheon Given by Her Mother

Miss Cora Gantt was formally presented to society yesterday at a beautifully appointed luncheon at which her mother, Mrs. George Gantt, entertained at the Capital City Country Club. Invited to meet the lovely honor guest were her sister, debutante, Ellen Gantt, and a group of other friends of Mrs. Gantt and Miss Gantt. The duo received their guests in the spacious lounge of the club, standing before a screen of palms and giant ferns. The elaborate decorations of the room featured the autumn color motif, with quantities of gold and bronze chrysanthemums combined with brilliantly tinted autumn foliage attractively arranged in tall floor baskets. Grouped at one side of the room and forming a veritable mass of exotic bloom were the numerous gift bouquets and baskets sent by admiring friends and attesting the popularity of the honor guest. The color notes of gold and bronze were also carried out in the decorations in the dining room where luncheon was served from exquisitely decorated buffet tables. A graceful white alabaster urn, filled with giant gold chrysanthemums, centered each table, and tall yellow tapered candles in massive silver candelabra on either side of the centerpiece. Punch was served from huge silver bowls placed on a lace-covered table and surrounded by English hawthorne berries and clusters of purple grapes. Miss Gantt received her guests wearing a tailored model of lustrous black velvet, with a smart black velvet hat and a cluster of gardenias. It was reported by Miss Annie Laurie Hill, co-chairman with Mrs. J. N. Bateman of the genealogical committee, that 100 Revolutionary soldiers' graves never fully identified have been found and will be recorded. A recommendation from the board was adopted that a letter of approval be sent to Mr. W. D. Collins, Dr. Wilbur Sutton and the board of education upon their upholding the pledge of allegiance to the United States flag in city schools.

A note of thanks was given Mrs. Moreland Spear and her committee for the luncheon served. Blue delphinium and yellow chrysanthemums carried out the colonial colors, and quaint colonial coaches were given as souvenirs.

Atlanta Chapter D.A.R. Sponsors Dinner

Governor Eugene Talmadge spoke at the thirtieth annual Georgia products dinner given at Hershman hall by the Atlanta Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, recently, introducing Mrs. Frederick C. Ripley, chairman of the dinner, who introduced the Governor, Mrs. Talmadge and her co-chairmen.

The luncheon hall was decorated with autumn leaves, evergreens, strings of red peppers, corn stalks, cotton and pumpkins, transforming it into a harvest scene. The tables placed in the form of an "E" carried out the motif, decorated with cornucopias, symbolic of peace and plenty, pouring out prize fruits and vegetables from the farm of Mrs. E. A. Cronheim. Pumpkins, filled with autumn leaves and berry-bearing branches, were placed at intervals between lighted tapers in pewter holders. Mrs. R. C. Colcord, assisted by Mesdames E. A. Cronheim, J. J. Watkins and W. A. Selman, was in charge of decorations.

Mrs. John H. Mullins, chairman of hospitality, and Mrs. Enos Hartman, co-chairman, were in charge of tables, assisted by Mesdames John R. Bishop, E. A. Cronheim, J. Lon Duncouth, Bonner Dunlap, J. O. Wells, W. E. Freeman, J. D. McClatchey, E. E. Bausel and members of the Lady Elizabeth Ogilthorpe Chapter. Children of the American Revolution, Miss Junia Chisholm, assisted by Mrs. Will King and Mrs. John A. Beall, was in charge of arrangements for bridge.

Decorative Arts Study Club Holds Meeting

The Decorative Arts Study Club held its semi-monthly meeting and luncheon in one of Atlanta's tea rooms recently. R. Borochoff was invited to speak to the membership, but illness prevented, and his paper on the "History of Ironwork," was read by Miss Eleanor Pepin, chairman of lecture assignment and study.

Mr. Borochoff stated that the term "melting pot" could be more literally applied to American ironwork than to its people, because of the many forms of Italian, French and German ironwork found in different parts of the country, the most beautiful being in New Orleans, Mobile, Charleston and sections of Pennsylvania.

Members of the club present were Mesdames J. D. Wells, E. D. Enedy, Miss A. Metzger, Molly H. Miller, Lee White, P. L. Brainer and Miss E. E. Pepin. Invited guests were Mesdames N. S. Berg, J. F. Duncan Jr. and E. Bradshaw.

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR NEW SCHOOL

Judge Thomas Presides at Connally Institution Ceremonies.

Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, past grand master of the Georgia F. and A. M., presided at the laying of a cornerstone in the new E. L. Connally school on Richmond road yesterday afternoon.

The new brick building, erected with federal aid, will supplant a portable building when completed. It cost approximately $55,000 and will house a grammar school.

Others who took part in the cornerstone laying program were Willis A. Sutton, city school superintendent; E. S. Cook, president of the board of education; Mrs. Ralph Grist, president of the P.T.A.; Alderman J. C. Aldridge, Miss Avalon Morris, senior teacher; the Rev. Harold Shields, the Rev. A. Julian Warner, the Rev. Y. A. Oliver, and pupils of the Atlanta schools. Bands from Tech High and Boys' High furnished music.

CAFE MAN BOUND OVER ON LIQUOR EVIDENCE

Nick Johnson, manager of the Ship Ahoy restaurant, 95 Luckie street, arrested yesterday in recorder's court on charges of disorderly conduct, whiskey, was bound over to higher courts on $300 bond by Recorder John L. Cone.

Detectives John Crankshaw and J. B. King testified they found two cases of assorted whiskeys Monday afternoon in the restaurant manager's office. Recorder Cone also bound over Jack Woodall, of 433 Washington street, on $200 bond. He was held after the 21 defendants testified they confiscated 21 pints and two quarts of whiskey at his place.

MRS. J. C. MELLICHAMP.

Georgia has been signally honored by the recent election of Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp, of Atlanta, to the national presidency of Service Star Legion, the oldest organization coming out of the World War. It is the amalgamated organization of 11 groups of women created during the World War. These groups, by different names, were located all over the United States, and the one in Atlanta was called "War Mothers."

Mrs. Mellichamp has been active in Atlanta in Service Star Legion work ever since the war. She was state president of Georgia 1931 to 1933, second vice president of the national 1932 to 1934, first vice president of the national 1934 to 1936, having been very successful as organizer for the junior department, composed of juniors, starlings and honor boys.

Mrs. Mellichamp was unanimously elected head of this splendid organization in Pittsburgh, Pa., and justly so, for her untiring work. In Atlanta, Mrs. Mellichamp has been standing in many fields of endeavor.

For three and a half years she headed most fully citizenship for the Parent-Teacher Association Council, having under her the Stone Mountain Memorial Fund, and chairman of the illiteracy for several years.

She caused 62 steel flag poles to be placed upon the school yards instead of upon the buildings, and had 42 American flags given her for the different schools. One negro firm gave her $450 worth of steel poles for the work for them, and she presided at 16 of their flag raisings, presenting them with their flag.

Mrs. Mellichamp is an active member of the Atlanta Better Films, and secured the "Secrets of Success," an educational movie project, upon the curriculum of the Atlanta public schools, and in 465 of the CCC camps in the fourth corps area. This was elected "as the greatest accomplishment of the Better Films of Atlanta in 15 years."

Mrs. Mellichamp is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century and National Genealogical Society, and is listed in first and second volumes of "American Women."

A Cleansing Cream, Not Liquefying, And a Satisfactory Two-Purpose One

By MIGNON.

(The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, endorse or manufacture any cosmetics.)

For the woman who doesn't like a liquid cleanser to get the makeup off of her face and who doesn't like a liquefying cream I have found just the product she is looking for. It is a special formula. I would say, utterly unperfumed, but containing something that seems to dissolve dirt most satisfactorily. I have had so many queries asking for just this kind of cream that I am glad to have found it for you.

It is a very soft, cream white mixture, and a cleansing cream which I would not hesitate to recommend for a two-purpose cream, provided the skin were not too dry. It is about the consistency of a texture cream, perhaps a little lighter, and it has a softening effect, no doubt about that.

Of course, in using a cream of this sort, don't forget that you must use it twice, just as if you were using two creams, once to take the dirt off and once to oil the skin. It would be perfectly silly to clean the skin with this and then go on rubbing the dirt into the pores. Use at least two or three applications when you use a heavy cleansing cream or a two-purpose cream. The woman who makes this cream is not an experimenter. She knows her business and everything she makes is tops.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column, phone Mignon, at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Monday.—It was good to be in the country Sunday, though it looked rather gloomy with the gray autumn sky. We were indoors, however, most of the time, as one of my friends is arranging a new apartment, which is always an interesting occupation for me. I would have liked to be an interior decorator. We are gradually getting a little colony established around our Val-Kill cottage, and I hope a few more friends will settle down in our vicinity.

I came to New York in the late afternoon and went straight to my daughter's for supper. At the taxicab stand in Grand Central Station there was such a crowd that I could not find a taxi.

I stopped to speak with Mr. and Mrs. George Lunn, of Schenectady, and he commented on the fact that he had wired the President his congratulations early in the afternoon of election day, because, when he found that Schenectady was going strongly for him, he knew the rest of the country was going to follow suit. How often we judge the rest of the world by our own experience. I wonder if it is always a safe thing to do, even though in this case he was entirely correct!

Even after this conversation, there were no taxis to be had. Finally, I went down to the starter and meekly asked if I could get a cab. There was one around the corner and he called the man, who didn't seem very anxious to come out. He came, however, and I rather apologetically said I had been unable to find one in the regular line. With a grin he turned to me and remarked:

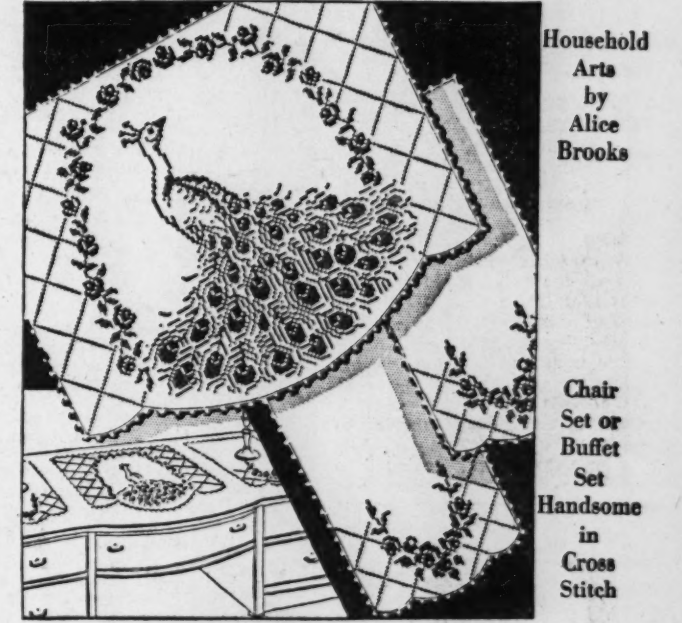

"You were lost in the crowd, weren't you? I've had you before, here and at the Pennsylvania, when you were traveling alone, and you come in just as quietly as you did today."

Yesterday I went to speak at the Jewish Center school in Far Rockaway, L. I., at a luncheon which the Mothers' Club had arranged. It was much interested in the school itself and in what they are trying to do. It is a progressive school, but they are teaching Hebrew and trying to preserve the knowledge and culture of their race and make it of value to young America.

I wonder if many racial groups could not take a leaf out of their book, and if the result might not be far-reaching in making us understand other nations and what we have drawn from them. Respect is the first requisite to good fellowship.

Charming Way to Use Cross Stitch

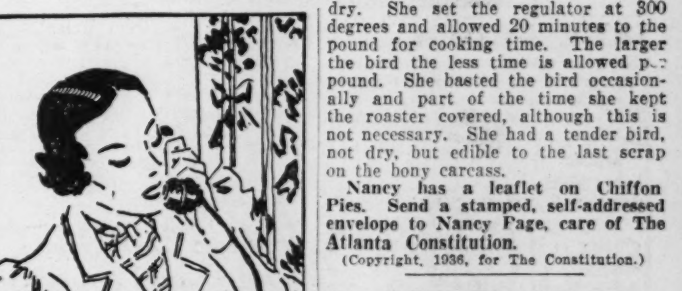

Even amateurs will have no difficulty in turning out finished looking Christmas gifts—a chair or buffet set—with this easy-to-do pattern. And what compliments they'll get on their cross-stitched peacock done in all the glory of its natural coloring or in two shades of a color for a more subdued effect. The crosses are 10 to 12 inches in size and are clearly given in a color chart. With two patterns a handsome scarf could be made. In pattern 5740 you will find a transfer pattern of a large motif 13x16 inches, and two smaller ones 4 1/2x6 inches; material requirements; color chart; and key; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

NANCY PAGE

Nancy Has Tender Turkey When She Roasts It This Way

Nancy was noted for her roast turkey. It was always a golden brown, done just as well as the sharp carving knife slipped through the meat as if it were so much butter. And yet the bird never fell to pieces before it was set before Peter, who was the carving host. There was always such discussion regarding the cooking of the poultry.

Here is Nancy's procedure. She selected a 14-pound turkey. She was not averse to taking a 15 or 16-pounder. When the turkey was washed she usually found it rather tough because of age and consequently she gave the bird a steaming before she roasted it. But if the turkey weighed less than 12 pounds she was afraid that there would be too much bone in proportion to the meat on the bones.

She singed the turkey to remove the fine hairs. Any pin feathers that she could remove by using tweezers were removed. She cut out the oil sack near the tail piece. She ran her hand up into the skeleton to pull out bits of lungs or clots that may have lodged there. Then she let the cold water run through the bird from the hole in the neck to the opening out for the drawing of the birds. Then she washed the skin quickly with water in which she had a little baking soda. The skin was dried.

The interior was now rubbed with a little powdered ginger and salt. Then the dressing went in. She allowed 10 cups of dressing for a 15-pound bird. When this was packed in she inserted small aluminum poultry pins and brought the pieces of skin together at the body opening. She wound heavy thread about these and saved herself sewing up the opening. She closed the opening at the neck. Then

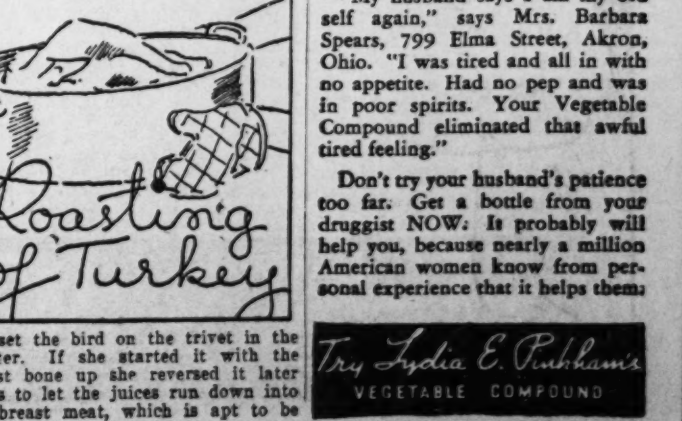

DOES YOUR HUSBAND CALL YOU GROUCHY?

He's truthful if not tactful. Manlike, he is bewildered by your offishness and irritability. He can't understand what you have to be blue about. He wishes that you'd snap out of it. He'd do anything he could to help you. If he knew how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was, he'd go straight to the nearest drug store and buy you a bottle.

"My husband says I am my old self again," says Mrs. Barbara Spears, 799 Elma Street, Akron, Ohio. "I was tired and ill with no appetite. Had no pep and was in poor spirits. Your Vegetable Compound eliminated that awful tired feeling."

Don't try your husband's patience too far. Get a bottle from your druggist NOW. It probably will help you, because nearly a million American women know from personal experience that it helps them.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

"What's on your mind, Teddy boy?" she asked, looking quite like her own self. And this seemed to break a breach in the wall for Teddy.

"I'm wondering," he said bravely, "just what happened to you between 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock day before yesterday."

"Between 4 and 5—" the girl repeated. Then looked at him quickly, her cheeks coloring. "What do you mean, Ted?"

"So something did happen, huh?" said the boy.

"I don't—know what you mean, Teddy," denied Rose. "What should have happened?"

"You—you took an apple pie to Mr. O'Hara about 4 o'clock, didn't you?"

"Yes," agreed the girl. "I did that. Foolishly."

"And—and you—" Teddy hesitated. Decided on diplomacy. "You were very nice to him, weren't you? Very nice?"

Rose said nothing, but the flush deepened.

"So you did kiss him," charged Teddy. "I thought so."

"Teddy Delane!" cried his offended sister. "I'm going away . . . Who told you that? Did—did Mr. O'Hara? Oh! If—"

"Be yourself, sis," Teddy admonished her. "Mr. O'Hara's a gentleman. An American gentleman," he added, slyly. "I guess it's that not the whole point. You kiss a man at 4 o'clock—and at 5 o'clock you tell the servants that you won't see him. And about 10 minutes later you send for Don Fernando and ask him to marry you."

"I didn't!" flared the girl. "Shame on you!"

"You did," persisted Teddy. "Send for him and ask him to marry you. Now why?"

"A perfect beast, I hate you!"

"No you don't, sis," said Teddy. "You don't even think you do . . . What happened?"

"Oh, nothing! Nothing!"

"What happened?"

The girl sank back, tears came to her eyes, she reached for a handkerchief.

"Mr. O'Hara's a beast, too," she said. "I—I hate him. I wish—I wish he had never fallen into my trap. He's—I found a letter of his. In the room he had here. He's engaged to—to some cat—back east."

"Engaged? Oh, piffle!" said Teddy shortly. "Don't tell me that. Shane O'Hara isn't—isn't that sort of a man. He's a gentleman. I—I like him. And he likes me. And he wouldn't like me if—he was trying to doublecross my sister. It's all nonsense. You've been dreaming."

"I tell you I saw the letter. It was from a friend of his. It said: 'Why didn't you tell me you were engaged to Billy Porter—you old-old fox.' So there."

"I don't believe it," insisted Teddy. "Oh, I don't mean maybe you didn't

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

Pity the poor shoe salesman.

We have a great respect for shoe salesmen. Their patience is infinite. They are able to listen to the histories of feminine foot ailments and even to enter into discussions of feminine love lives without falling asleep. Of course we could wish that they also had the ability to fit a foot with a comfortable shoe, but that is a small virtue, compared to their other virtues.

But one of these days their patience is going to be tried, once too often, and they will break, en masse, under the strain. It would be a terrible thing to have fifty million lunatic shoe salesmen loose in the country. So we have drawn up several rules to be followed by women buying shoes.

1. Don't try on more than five pairs in one store.
2. Don't tell about the very unusual length of your toes more than once to the same salesman.
3. If he has told you what a beautiful foot you have once, don't try to make him say it again.
4. Don't go into details about the party to which you are wearing the new shoes.
5. Remember, he is probably a married man.

FROM TWINS TO QUINS.

III—The Dionnes.

Quadruplets or "quads" are born in one place or another during every year that passes by, but that is not true of quintuplets or "quins." More than 30 cases of the birth of quins are on record, but they are spread over the centuries. Many years may go by without a single case of quins being given to the public records.

Another important fact is that quins seldom live more than a very few minutes. That is why the world has taken such wide notice of the Dionnes, they are the first set of quins to reach the age of 2 years. At least this is true of modern times. There may have been long-lived quins in olden days whose record has not come down to us.

On the twenty-eighth day of May, 1935, they celebrated a birthday. They ranged in weight from 14 1/2 pounds to 17 1/2 pounds. They were healthy babies, thanks to the care given to them by Dr. Dano and his helpers.

During May of the present year, the quins—Marie, Annette, Cecile, Emile and Yvonne—reached the age of two years, still healthy and happy. By their second birthday the little ladies had built up a fortune of more than half a million dollars. The greater part of the money came from their "acting" in moving pictures. It pays to be a quins, if you live long enough.

GERMAN PACIFIST GETS
NOBEL PEACE AWARDNazis Expected To Protest
Selection; Norwegian To Receive '36 Prize.

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A committee of the Norwegian parliament today awarded the Nobel peace prizes for 1935 and 1936 to Carl von Ossietzky, German pacifist, and Carlos Saavedra Lamas, foreign minister of Argentina.

Von Ossietzky, long in disfavor with the German government and only recently released from Nazi custody, was given the prize for 1935. It carries a cash value of $30,303.

Saavedra Lamas, recent president of the assembly of the League of Nations and who will preside at the forthcoming inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires, received the 1936 award of $30,286.

The committee of the storting—Norwegian parliament—which made the selections, gave no specific reasons for the award in either case.

The award in behalf of peace was the last of five to be made this year from the prize fund created by Alfred Nobel, Swedish chemist and munitions maker, who used his vast fortune to set up the prizes.

The other four awards were conferred by Swedish institutions for literature, physics, chemistry and medicine.

FORMAL PROTEST SEEN TO PEACE PRIZE AWARD

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Nazi spokesmen expressed sharp displeasure today at the award of the 1935 Nobel peace prize to Carl von Ossietzky, German pacifist just released from custody.

Reichsleiter Adolf Hitler personally concerned himself with the selection, summoning officials of the foreign office and the ministries of justice and propaganda to a conference.

An official protest of the award, branding it a "misuse of a humanitarian institution for political purposes," informed sources said, was being drafted.

A spokesman explained that since von Ossietzky's release he was "an unofficial personage," but added: "If disruptive elements wish to rally behind the name of von Ossietzky, we shall not consider our position with regard to him."

(Announcement of the award with that for 1936 to Foreign Minister Carlos Saavedra Lamas, of the Argentine, at Oslo, Norway, today caused German Minister Salm to assert it "will create the embitterment of Germany.")

Although visitors to the huge west end hospital in Berlin, where Ossietzky was taken after his release from custody, received a courteous welcome, they were firmly discouraged from seeing the pacifist.

Paths to the hospital, where he says, were open just as the others in the far-flung hospital grounds. Neither official nor unofficial Nazi party police were visible anywhere.

Efforts to speak with Ossietzky, however, were courteously turned aside.

French Deputies Given Proposal
For Payment of War Debt to U. S.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies was asked today to consider paying back United States war loan defaulted payments which reached $250,292,292 June 15, 1936.

A resolution asking the French government to reopen negotiations with Washington was introduced in the chamber by Deputy Rene Richard, who asked his colleagues "to remove this point of friction between two great democracies."

He said he would ask speedy action on the resolution at Thursday's session.

Several similar moves in the past four years fell on deaf ears and forced the overthrow of the Herriot government in 1932.

The present action, however, comes at a time when sentiment has unquestionably increased for settlement of the war debt issue, observers here said.

The necessity for France to tighten her ties with America in the face of increasing European war peril has been voiced frequently by politicians and the press.

Payment of the war debt, many quarters felt, was the best assurance of American aid in an hour of trouble.

Richard, a Radical Socialist deputy, in 1932 backed the then Premier, Edouard Herriot when he fought defaulting the current payment.

Richard's resolution contained no specific details for settlement of the debt, merely proposing the chamber "invite" reopened negotiations.

France owes the United States a grand total of $4,041,192,828.53 on her original war debt. After her default last June on the $74,787,725 payment due, she was just $250,292,292 behind on amortization and interest payments.

When Premier Blum took office as France's first Socialist premier, he deplored "the misunderstanding between the United States and France over the situation."

Paul Reynaud, minister on his recent return from an American visit, declared the French defaults were "unwise." He proposed payment to insure "friendship and cooperation" between France and the United States.
